San Bruno Resident, Despondent, Takes Child to S. F. Wharf, Leaps Into Bay With Him; Men Save Them

Lad Sinks After They Hit Water, But Is Picked Up by Boatmen, Who Reached Side of Child's Mother First

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Tired of life as despondent by reason of loneliness, Mrs. Eliza Descamp, 25 years old, living at 27 Ware avenue, San Bruno, took her 7-year-old son Jacques and jumped overboard with him from Pier 14 this afternoon. They were immediately rescued by James McCreedy, engineer for the Crowley Lumber company, of 4051 Twenty-fourth street, and John Casey of 222 Winfield avenue.

According to the two men, the woman's act was totally without warning to them. They were lounging on the wharf when they saw the woman approach, leading the boy by the hand. She had apparently been following her quite willingly, making no effort to hang back.

WOMAN SILENT AS THEY WALK TO PIER.

When a woman was walking between mother and child, they walked to the edge of the wharf. There for a moment they paused. Then the woman stooped, seized the child in her arms and stepped upon the raised planking at the edge of the wharf.

The men ran toward them. Whether the woman saw them or not they do not know. Before they could reach her, she had leaped from the wharf and plunged with the boy into the bay.

The shock of the sudden contact with the water loosened her hold upon the lad and he sank from sight. Her skirts, however, kept her afloat.

The two men who had seen her sudden dive were over the side in an instant. A small boat they reached her in little time and drew her into the boat. In a moment the child rose again to the surface and he was seized by his clothing and also hauled aboard.

The woman, leaning back in her chair, was staring at the man. Her face was red, her eyes wide, and she controlled herself with difficulty. The man leaned forward, intent, and Bill thrilled at the revelation given him in this snapshot of real emotion. He and the woman, who had been so close, were now separated by the water.

WOMAN NATIVE OF FRANCE, FRIENDS SAY.

Deschamps, a native of France, she came to the United States five months ago. Nothing more of importance is known with regard to her. Residents in San Francisco who have known her declared that her despondency has been increasingly noticeable.

Mrs. Deschamps either wouldn't or couldn't speak to hospital attendants and an interpreter was called.

"I was homesick," she said. "I didn't like this country. I wanted to go back to France, but I had no money. My husband was in San Francisco, and I was alone, and I was hoping that I might be able to steal a ride on some ship for myself and my boy, but I could not find the right boat and there were too many men on the dock and they seemed to be watching me. So I decided to end it all by jumping overboard. I wanted to get rid of my troubles. I wanted to end it all."

McCreedy declared later that he and his companion first sought to save the pair with a life-preserver.

"She would not touch it," he said, "but just pushed it away. Her skirts were holding her up, although she was throwing masses of her clothing into the air, filled a ravine beside the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad and swept the tracks, stopping all traffic."

The Polar refinery is now within the danger zone and seems doomed. A flood of burning oil was gradually nearing the refinery. Blazing oil from the second tank which boiled and throwing masses of fire 100 feet into the air, filled a ravine beside the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad and swept the tracks, stopping all traffic.

Persons living near the fire are hurriedly packing their belongings and leaving their homes.

The fire started late yesterday when one of the tanks was struck by lightning.

THREE MINUTE TALES

by Ad Schuster.

ROMANCE AND FOOD.

BILL CARNEY, the only one at a small table set apart for the press, looked at mournfully. "It is just my luck," he said, "to work for a paper that wants all these single-track banquets covered. Three hours of speeches and maybe indignation, all for a couple of hundred words tomorrow night. There isn't a one at the speaker's table I haven't heard a dozen times and there isn't a person here who doesn't know what they are going to say."

He turned his eyes from the notables and let them wander over the diners. A man and woman sitting near attracted his attention. "They look like they were in the wrong place, somehow," he mused. "More class, more intelligence. I wonder if they'll stick it through."

As the evening dragged Bill wished these two and wondered if their seeming attention was kindness or if they too shared a conviction that the occasion was important. He fingered his water glass and speculated.

"Well-to-do business man," was the guess, "bonds or insurance. Came here tonight because his wife knows one of the speakers and made him. He is taking it fine, too, and would do almost anything for her. And she, well, she is a pretty woman of 45 as I have ever seen."

THE two who were being studied exchanged pleasantries so that the speaker could not wish he knew them. They were of the kind, he thought, who are sufficient unto themselves and who can enjoy any occasion so long as they are together. By this time Bill had given full reign to his ruminations and was picturing the strangers, in glowing colors, as story-book lovers in middle age.

The speaker of the evening was being introduced with a challenge of volume of words when Bill, glancing back to his neighbors, beheld a transformation.

The woman, leaning back in her chair, was staring at the man. Her face was red, her eyes wide, and she controlled herself with difficulty. The man leaned forward, intent, and Bill thrilled at the revelation given him in this snapshot of real emotion. He and the woman, who had been so close, were now separated by the water.

Bill thought she was mad. He thought she was slipping out of the door and followed them down the hall. The man was running now and caught the woman by the arm. A head waiter, following Bill, showed them the door. The man ran quickly when the waiter raised his arm and dealt the woman a swinging blow on the back. She recoiled, then faced him, tears streaming down her cheeks.

"HERE, you!" Bill grunted as he struggled with the man. "Take care of the lady," he shouted to the head waiter. "I'll turn this bird over to the police."

The man and woman, who had been so close, were now separated by the water. The man ran quickly when the waiter raised his arm and dealt the woman a swinging blow on the back. She recoiled, then faced him, tears streaming down her cheeks.

"You young chump!" he said, "my wife swallowed a fish bone."

Chita Soviet Army Invades Japan Area

EDUCATION BOARD UPSET IS EXPECTED

Reorganization of Governing School Body Is Predicted Tonight as Result of Transfer of Commissioner Baccus

Many Important Changes Are Imminent, According to the Plans Now Formed; Committee of Fifteen Figures

NEW YORK, April 3.—The expected reorganization of the Board of Education is scheduled for tonight as a result of the recent transfer of Commissioner William J. Baccus to the finance and educational department, and all the civic, fraternal and business clubs interested in educational matters are expected to be represented in the spectators' seats.

Baccus has always expressed his preference for the street department. On the eve of his taking over the new task, Baccus emphasized that he does not intend to "take sides in the Board of Education rows" except insofar as he is compelled to do so.

Harry Doyle, present president of the Board of Education, is expected to continue to wield the gavel, according to latest assertions. As Doyle's job was eagerly sought by the others on the board, Doyle, however, will no longer head a majority of the board, and his rulings, if made the subject of appeal, might not always be sustained, according to board members. In the past the Doyle-Ormsby-Campbell-Edwards faction sustained Doyle's rulings 100 per cent.

MANY IMPORTANT CHANGES IMMINENT.

Aside from Doyle, however, it is admitted that there are many important changes imminent. These include:

The dismissal of Norval Cook as secretary of the Board of Education and the taking over of the position by Auditor John W. Edmond, who will also remain as auditor.

The dismissal of Cook as efficiency expert for the school department.

The nullifying of the board's new rules, which created such a scandal, and what will happen to the rules, however, is at present unknown. Baccus asserts that he does not intend to smash into these rules directly and indirectly, but that he is considering the advisability of referring them to prominent educators for an opinion. The opinions of educators were against the rules, but the Board of Education in the past. On the other hand, school officials admit that the old rules had many defects, and it is asserted that the new rules may finally result in something more workable than either the present or the past rules.

Don Rice, business manager, is expected to be retained in office.

COMMITTEE OF FIFTEEN FIGURES.

One of the most important questions before the new regime is the disposition of the committee of fifteen, the so-called "public education advisory committee," which the Boyle-Edwards-Ormsby-Campbell combination put into office and which was headed by L. B. May.

Mayor Davis and the city administration have frequently stated that they do not believe in the delegating of authority by elected officials. The mayor has held that the elected officials were put in office for certain purposes, and should not pass their work to self-selected committees or persons.

As a result of the decision in the past by certain persons who alleged that the Board of Education was delegating much of its authority to the committee of fifteen, Baccus, who is close to the mayor, is believed to be advocating the public officials holding the reins in their own hands. Under this interpretation, it is held by many that the committee of fifteen will be dissolved and the Board of Education will perform its own duties without delegating its powers to someone else.

IRISH TROOPS DEFY MEN OF FREE STATE

DUBLIN, April 3.—(By the Associated Press).—Officials figure given out today show that 3220 men left the five Dublin battalions of the Irish Republican army yesterday afternoon, marching to Smithfield, where they took an oath of allegiance to the republic, freeing themselves from any further responsibility to the Dail Eireann.

LARGE QUANTITY OF RIFLES AND AMMUNITION INCLUDED IN SEIZURE; MEETING IS BROKEN UP AS COLLINS IS SPEAKING

MULLINGAR, County Westmeath, Ireland, April 3.—An incident from which sensational developments are expected here occurred today when 100 Free State troops marched to the gates of the barracks occupied by Irish republican army adherents of Eamon de Valera and were refused admission.

THE ARMS WERE TAKEN TO CORK BY WATER AND PACKED INTO HUNDREDS OF MOTOR LORRIES SENT THERE FOR THIS PURPOSE. THEY WERE TAKEN TO A SECRET REBEL RENDEZVOUS IN THE HILLS.

COLLINS MEETING IS BROKEN UP BY FORCES.

DUBLIN, April 3.—(By the Associated Press).—The meeting addressed by Michael Collins at Castlebar, County Mayo, last night, was stopped by members of the Fourth Western Division of the Irish Republican army after stormy scenes in which a woman was wounded by a bullet from a machine gun.

The chief of the provisional government and his party returned to their hotel and the officer who had proclaimed the meeting at an end, declaring that none would be allowed to leave until Mr. Collins and his friends had surrendered their arms.

The accounts received here do not state whether the Collins party was disarmed, merely saying that "some people who left the hotel were searched."

The telegraph wires around Castlebar were cut, and when the newspaper correspondents there boarded a train for Athlone they were held by two officers to go to the barracks.

ROADS BLOCKED AND RAILWAY TORN UP.

A correspondent says all the roads to Castlebar were blocked by trees and that automobiles were held up. The town was stopped by army men, who even ripped up the railway track to prevent the arrival of the special trains from the surrounding towns. The roads were consequently delayed until 7 p. m.

The crowd numbered 2000 persons, among them many hostile to Collins. Collins was frequently interrupted by the crowd, which was made to rush the lorries, which supported his platform, says the account, and a supporter of Collins drew a revolver.

Others produced revolvers also, upon which the crowd stampeded, women fainting and several persons were trampled upon. A young man was pursued into a side street when a number of shots were fired.

Seeks Approval

PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE of Great Britain, who today demanded vote of confidence in House of Commons.

PARK'S CASCADE CAUSES BIG STIR

Council and Park Board All "Het Up" Over Cleveland Way Stairway.

High art and high politics, two unsuspecting elements which had hardly noted the other's presence before, broke into open warfare today. The city council, the park board and the handsome cascade stairway at Cleveland way are now all snarled up in a battle.

It started long ago when peace and harmony seemed to emanate from council and park board. In beautifying the city a plan was made for a spectacular cascade stairway to roll down the steep bluff on the east side of the lake and through its waters later upon the greensward of the park. Landscape Architect Howard Gilkey drew plans on the stairway for weeks, drafting steps, fountains, rails and ornamental turns. It was decided to have a broad stairway, with waters tumbling down in the center in a succession of waterfalls, from cup to cup.

Mayor Davis admits he didn't pay much attention to the matter, though it was casually mentioned in the press. Commissioner Baccus says the same. So do other members of the city council.

WOULD BE ALONGSIDE "HOUSE OF COMMONS."

Suddenly they admitted the fact dawned upon them that the cascade is to be built alongside the residence of Dr. L. F. Herriek of the order of park directors. Dr. Herriek is also a political enemy of Mayor Davis and operates a sort of "House of Commons" which has a luncheon or temple room for the Herriek lot, where folks meet and hold conversations about city matters. The House of Commons would be almost alongside that cascade stairway.

Baccus charges that the stairway-cascade would cost $100,000. "What does the park board mean by it?" said Baccus today. "We have a bandstand that we couldn't finish for lack of $7500, and now they spend $100,000 on a scenic slide right alongside Herriek's home. I understand a realty firm is leveling off a two-acre tract at the top of the hill for a park. Maybe they'll try to sell this to the city."

"In against the whole business. Make it as strong as possible. It's a crime."

LAND FOR CASCADE DEDICATED FOR STREET.

"The land for that cascade business was dedicated to the city some time ago for a street, but closed and given back. Later it was re-dedicated to the city by Herriek. I thought it was taken back for a street, but apparently it got to the park board. What is the idea? Are we beautifying that place so as to enhance the realty value of Herriek's tract?"

Mayor Davis admits he is somewhat wrought up about it, but will not say anything for publication now. "We didn't know it was going to happen," says the mayor. "We can't stop it now, but perhaps pretty soon someone will hear from me."

Baccus says the mayor has hinted at demanding the heads of members of the park board who voted for the Cleveland Way affair.

Meanwhile the "Innocent bystander" gets hit by the flying bricks. Herriek, who for weeks worked like a Trojan to turn out a work of art, which he called the "Cleveland Way" in the middle of the park, while the machine guns and heavy artillery tune up for the barrage.

Arbuckle Expected To Take Stand Again

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Four major witnesses remained to be called in the defense of Eugene "Fatty" Arbuckle, in his trial for manslaughter as the fourth week began today.

Milton Carlson, fingerprint expert, was ready to go on the stand today and make denial that the alleged "strange print" on the door of room 1213 of the hotel suite in which "Fatty's" Labor day party was held, were those of Virginia Rappe and Arbuckle, as contended by the state.

The next witnesses in importance yet to be called are Dr. F. W. Shields and Dr. Asa W. Collins, defense medical experts.

Arbuckle will probably be the closing witness in his own behalf.

CONFIDENCE VOTE ASKED BY PREMIER

Lloyd George Tells Commons Russians Must Recognize Foreign Debts, Open Ports, Protect Trade, Stop War

Declares Genoa Conference Is Called to Consider Reconstruction of Economic Europe; Cause of Reparations

BY UNITED PRESS. LEAD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, April 3.—Premier Lloyd George this afternoon asked the House of Commons for a vote of confidence in his government.

In a stirring speech before a crowded house, the British prime minister put his leadership to the test. He defended the coalition government's foreign policy and asked the approval of parliament of the Genoa economic conference.

Lloyd George met squarely the crisis confronting his government. He was faced from the opposition benches by leaders of three independent groups of political enemies, each ready with an amendment to his resolution:

"Resolved: That this house approve the resolutions passed by the council at Cannes as a basis for the Genoa conference, will support his majesty's government in endeavoring to effect them."

The prime minister stood ready to resign if an amendment were passed.

CONFERENCE CALLED FOR RECONSTRUCTION.

"The Genoa conference was called to consider the reconstruction of economic Europe," Lloyd George declared, "and to examine the best method of restoring prosperity out of the wreckage of the war."

He then moved his resolution, asking parliament's confidence in the proposed policies.

The prime minister went on to elaborate on the principles underlying the proposed policies.

"I do not believe the Genoa conference should consider revision of existing treaties," he declared, "but his accord with the French view of the Versailles treaty must not be abandoned in favor of new agreements."

It was on this point, Lloyd George's new-found accord with France, that the independent Liberals were prepared to attack the premier's resolution.

WIT OF PREMIER BRINGS APPLAUSE.

"Europe's trouble is not due to our having demanded reparations," Lloyd George declared, "but because there is something to repair."

This typical Lloyd George twist, delivered in his best style, brought a burst of appreciative applause from the house.

Alteration of existing treaties would not wipe out the need for reparations, the premier declared, but would merely transfer the burden of payment from Germany's shoulders to those of France.

Payment for damage done had to be made by someone, he said. If Germany doesn't pay, then France and Britain must.

One of the things that would be undertaken at Genoa, Lloyd George said, was restoration of foreign exchange. In order that this might be done, it was most necessary that each nation balance its books.

QUESTION OF PRICE IS MOST IMPORTANT.

The question of peace with Russia, Lloyd George said, was a most important one.

"Germany cannot pay her reparations," he declared, "until Russia has been restored to her position as a great power. The prime minister declared emphatically.

"We must establish complete peace throughout all Europe," Lloyd George stated, "with a view to dealing with the serious problems of trade and unemployment."

"The real basis for peace war is the Russian willingness to accept the allies' conditions."

COAL MINES TIED UP WHEN 600,000 MEN REMAIN IDLE

Rail Union Leaders Gather in Chicago to Discuss Aid in Walkout.

Story to the House labor committee investigating the suspension, and to swing public opinion—or hold it—in favor of the union's efforts. Vice-President Philip Murray was in New York negotiating with the anthracite owners, and Secretary-Treasurer William E. Green left here late yesterday for his home in Coshocton, Ohio, to look over the situation in that state.

All Collieries Near Wilkesbarre Closed

By GEORGE W. WILLIAMS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 3.—The coal suspension put under way today and the first real test of strength showed that hard coal miners are supporting the strike order as a man. Every colliery in the three districts remained idle and not a man reported for duty, except those allowed to work by the decree of the international union officials.

West Virginia Mine Workers Join Union

BECKLEY, W. Va., April 3.—Virtually complete tie-up of the New River coal fields and partial closing in the winding gulf fields were claimed by John Sprouse, president of District 23, United Mine Workers of America, today.

Seven localities have been organized in the winding gulf field, non-union territory heretofore, Sprouse said. In the New River field, formerly unionized territory, but more recently operating under an old union without union sanction, Sprouse said the men had returned to the union.

Union Chief Scores Mine Owners Before Congress

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Union coal miners who suspended work Saturday in the nation's bituminous and anthracite fields were declared today by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America to be desirous of ending "the suspension of mining operations at the earliest possible date," but "the resumption of coal production entirely depends upon the future attitude of the coal operators."

Lewis made this declaration before the House Labor Committee, which is holding hearings on the Bland resolution to direct appointment to investigate the coal industry. Discussing the resolution under consideration, the United Mine Workers' president asserted that his organization would welcome "any impartial and judicial investigation of the general conditions in the bituminous and anthracite coal fields, and especially the facts relating to investments and profits, operating practices, conservation of fuel resources, application of uniform methods of safeguarding the life and limb of the workers, and industrial relations and conditions."

OPPOSED INTERVENTION. "As to the adjustment of controversies between operators and mine workers," he said, "we have been traditionally opposed to governmental intervention." Mr. Lewis continued, "We have been convinced by experience that such adjustments may be more effectively and equitably worked out both in the interest of the public and of those engaged in the industry by conference and agreement between representatives of the operators and the mine workers. They have maintained their contract with us the present deplorable condition of affairs in the soft coal industry would not have arisen. All differences should have been settled by agreement and a suspension of work and a general breakdown in the industry avoided."

"The strike" was said to have been largely responsible for the heavy output.

"This confirms the survey's forecast that stocks in the hands of consumers would reach 63,000,000 tons by April 1," the statement said, adding that at least 3,000,000 tons of the production of the last reported week would be added to reserves.

Contrary to usual practice in the industry, production increased as the week progressed, reaching the high output for any one day with 39,922 cars loaded at the reporting mines on Friday, March 24. Preliminary telegraphic returns, the survey said, indicate that on both Monday and Tuesday of last week loadings exceeded 37,000 cars. Reports from the anthracite industry indicated a similar condition. It was said, the production for the week ended March 25 totaling 11,437,000 tons, against 1,007,000 in the previous week and 1,564,000 tons in the corresponding week of 1921.

COURT BATTLE TO OPEN IN PROBE OF HOLY CITY CULT

Charges of "Free Love" Practice to Be Contested by Church Members.

SAN JOSE, April 3.—The stage is set here for the court drama to be enacted tomorrow and probably Wednesday when Superior Judge F. B. Brown and members of the Santa Clara county probation board hear testimony from the United Mine Workers of America and the Holy City church of the Perfect Christian Divine Way church of San Francisco and Los Angeles, situated in the mountains near Alma.

Charges that the place is immoral and that children of members of the cult there are subjected to witness improper conduct upon the part of their parents, have been made in a sensational affidavit by Mrs. Frieda Schwartz, of San Francisco, a two and a half years lived at the Holy City as a member of the cult. She is backed up in her formal charges by Mrs. Pearl Archer, owner of property adjoining the estate of the Holy City family.

The hearing in the local court tomorrow is directly concerning the custody of Willis Riker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Riker, "father" and "mother" of the colony, and Richard, Paul and Margaret Strauss, children of Mr. and Mrs. G. Strauss, members of the cult.

The four children were taken from the Holy City last week by officers of the county probation board on the strength of the formal charge that the place is immoral. Thursday morning they were temporarily returned to their parents pending the outcome of the hearing here tomorrow.

Strenuous denial of all charges involved have been made by the leaders of the P. C. D. W. and the organization's attorneys, who charge that the children have been prompted by a "frame-up" on the part of Mrs. Archer to obtain possession of the Holy City property, which adjoins hers.

The state board of charities and corrections has been gathering detailed evidence against the place for a year past, according to Mrs. Cornelia Stanwood, secretary of the board, and it was said today that the investigation here tomorrow is a result of actions taken by the State authorities to bring the matter to a head.

Marriage Market Drops in Germany As Mark Declines

By CARL D. GROOT, United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, April 3.—Marriage in Germany for the average man is fast becoming extremely difficult or quite impossible, according to figures given the United Press today by Frau Lang, wife of the German charge here. The spectacular slump in the marriage market is a very serious and now some of the results, according to Frau Lang, are:

It takes a day's labor or more to pay for a pound of coffee, or to buy a pound of wheat or a pound of good roast beef.

It takes about two months' work to pay for a very ordinary suit of clothes.

Butter per pound is about three-fourths of a day's work.

Milk is next to impossible to obtain and then it costs seven to eight marks—double what it cost last summer and fifty to sixty times what it cost before the war.

Coffee is up about seventy times above the pre-war price.

Those are some of the things that stare the would-be bridegroom in the face," commented Frau Lang.

"Of course, folks do still marry, but they've got to live with the 'in-laws' or else be content with one room, for there are no dwellings to be had; building hasn't been undertaken since the war."

BALTIC STATES HAVING TROUBLE EARNING LIVING

Buffers Against Bolshevism Created by Allies Experiencing Difficulties.

RIGA, April 3.—The new and tiny Baltic states, created by the Allies as buffers against Bolshevism, are actually having about all they can do to keep going as nations.

The miniature countries, each weighed down with expensive governmental machinery and surrounded by high customs walls, have not been able thus far to develop the administrative capacity to keep national, commercial and economic life functioning properly. Despite heavy taxes, their governments cannot make their budgets balance without working the paper printing press over time and time and national industrial and commercial activities, disrupted by the war, are still in bad shape.

Few of their own citizens expect them to survive as independent states after normal conditions are restored in Eastern Europe. Most predict reattachment to Russia, with a large degree of local autonomy. Of the new republics, Lithuania is working the best. Latvia and Estonia, however, are running rapidly behind.

These general facts stand out prominently after talks and interviews with a large number of Latvians of all classes. The accuracy of the statement in regard to the industrial life is attested to by the idle smokestacks up and down the harbor.

In connection with the last, of course, it must be admitted that the cutting off of the old Russian trade links with a large number of Latvians of all classes. The accuracy of the statement in regard to the industrial life is attested to by the idle smokestacks up and down the harbor.

Nevertheless, very few Baltics favor joining with Bolshevik Russia. Most of them prefer to plod along by themselves, even if poorly, "until a new regime comes in Russia," as they put it.

Here is the price Latvia is paying for independence. A 1000 per cent increase in taxes over 1914, to support a costly government, top heavy with personnel. There is a popular saying that every fourth Lett in Riga receives a pay check from the government.

Loss of international credit. Latvian merchants have great difficulty in obtaining credit abroad, and the government is thinking of sending the finance minister on a tour of Europe soon to try to raise a little loan.

Exasperating slowness of recovery of business and industry owing to disorganized communication among the Baltic countries, customs restrictions, etc.

Coal-the healthful fuel

or

"Why We Burn Coal in Our House"

Open to all Northern California school children of 18 years or less. Here are some of the facts that you may bring out in your essay:

Coal is the most healthful fuel.
All kinds of fire consume oxygen and give off carbon-dioxide and other gases of combustion.
A coal fire is healthful because it discharges these gases outside the house, through its flue. That is why people who burn coal are less apt to suffer from throat and lung troubles, colds, hardening of the arteries, paralysis and vertigo.

Coal is the most economical fuel.
Whether burned in the kitchen range, fireplace, airtight heater or furnace, it gives most heat for least money. A fire in the kitchen stove not only cooks the dinner and heats the boiler, but also takes the morning and evening chill off the house.

The happiest home hours
—are spent around the fireplace, with the coal fire radiating warmth and cheer throughout the house.
Better start your essay right today, as the contest closes on April 15.

FOUR WOMEN ARE INJURED IN FIRE IN S. F. APARTMENTS

Three Overcome by Smoke, One Hurt in Jump, During Night Blaze.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Four women, one of whom is in a serious condition, are in hospitals here today recovering from injuries as a result of a fire which early yesterday gutted the Walker apartments, 1685 Walker street, causing damage estimated at $15,000. The cause of the blaze is undetermined.

The injured: MRS. ALANSON E. DICKSON, apartment 7; possible fractured right hip and severely bruised about the body. MRS. JOHANNA REGNER, apartment 6; overcome by smoke. MRS. MARTHA REGNER, overcome by smoke. MRS. M. CARLSON, apartment 6; overcome by smoke.

All of the injured were trapped in the burning building, and had apartments on the third floor. The fire broke out on this floor and rapidly spread until it had swept through almost the entire apartment building.

THRILLING RESCUES.

There were many thrilling rescues. One woman, Mrs. F. H. Waite, snatched her small daughter from a baby buggy, which had taken fire and carried her to safety.

Men and firemen fought their way into the flaming building and carried many residents to the outside.

Mrs. Dickson, the wife of a Pullman conductor who is absent on a trip, when she discovered the fire made a rope by knotting sheets together and lowered herself from the third-story window of her bedroom. The improvised rope reached only to the second floor and she dropped.

She was found lying unconscious on the pavement and taken to a hospital. She had carried a few boxes containing about $1000 worth of diamonds with her and these were strewn about the street. Most of the stones were recovered.

ESCAPE CUT OFF.

Mrs. Regner, who is 73 years old, and her daughter were awakened by smoke. They rushed to the door to find the hallway in flames, and their escape cut off.

The aged woman staggered back into the room and faint, and her daughter ran to a window and called for help. Firemen ran a ladder to the window and the woman and her daughter were carried down and taken to a hospital. Both were partially asphyxiated from the smoke.

Mrs. Carlson, also trapped on the third floor, declined the assistance of a fireman and started to make her way down a ladder alone. Before she reached the window where the ladder was, she fell unconscious to the floor from the smoke.

SEPARATION OF TWINS PROVEN IMPOSSIBILITY

CHICAGO, April 3.—The "Siamese Twins," Josefa and Rosa Blazek, who died last week, after two weeks illness at a hospital here were joined at the spine and severing them would have been fatal, according to X-ray photographs taken after their death.

The pictures, it was declared, showed a continuous U-shaped spine and also several vital organs in common. The deaths were due to intestinal obstruction, according to George W. Brady, radiographer, who made the pictures.

MOTHERHOOD SOLVED.

CHICAGO, April 3.—Franz, the 12-year-old son of Rosa Blazek, was the son of Rosa alone and not of both the Siamese twins. Dr. J. R. M. Otravoev has announced as the result of a secret postmortem. Upon this point hinges the distribution of the $100,000 estate built up by the twins during exhibitions in Europe.

Testimony of Dr. Otravoev is expected to be introduced in probate court here during settlement of the estate.

Franz, it was believed, will receive $50,000 of the estate. The other half will go to Frank, brother of the twins.

man, who was patrolling his beat near the apartment house building, saw smoke floating out from some of the windows and pulled a fire box. When the first apparatus arrived the inside of the structure was a mass of flames, and the blaze was breaking through the outside at several places.

Three alarms were sounded. The fire is believed to have started near the tradesman's entrance and was observed at 3 o'clock. The absence of wind was the reason given by firemen for the entire building not being razed by the flames. The home of Thomas Carew, undertaker, at 1515 Walker street, where Attorney William Hayes and his wife and two babies of Oakland, were spending the night, caught fire from sparks, but was extinguished after a small hole was burned in the roof.

ENGLISH WOMAN. CRITICIZES U. S. GIRLS' APPAREL

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Present day styles of dressing as affected by American girls came in for a scathing criticism yesterday by Mrs. Augusta Henrietta Roumieu, globe trotter of Surrey, England, who is a guest at the Hotel Whitcomb.

Mrs. Roumieu, who is 64 years old, and who takes a trip to a different part of the globe each year, has just made a two-years' tour of the British colonies. Describing herself as an "early Victorian" in her outlook on such matters as what is becoming in woman's dress, Mrs. Roumieu said:

"Queen Victoria would raise her hands in horror at the sight of the styles affected by your American girls. It may be that because I belong to these styles do not appeal to me. In my day it would have been considered the height of immorality for a young girl to show her ankles as the girls of today are doing."

"It would not be so bad, perhaps, if they would only show their ankles, but I think it is going too far when the calves of their legs and even their knees are exposed to the public gaze. And then bobbed hair, I confess I cannot understand it."

Ranchers Block Lion Hunter's Work By Shooting Dogs

Hostility of the big ranch owners in the vicinity of Mt. Hamilton has prevented Jay Bruce, official lion hunter, from eliminating the mountain lions that have been terrorizing that region, according to a statement made by Bruce today.

Bruce, who now lives in Hayward, declares that the big land owners have hired riders who are instructed to shoot hunting hounds on sight, and that his one venture in this region nearly caused him to lose two good "lion dogs."

"Many reports have come from Mount Hamilton about the cougar or mountain lions that have been killing cattle and sheep up there," says Bruce. "In response to requests made by certain cattle owners I went up there at one time, but no sooner had I hit the trail of a lion on the private lands of a wealthy family than the whole outfit went after my hounds with guns."

"While I am officially hired and commissioned by the state to kill the marauding lions, I cannot invade private property without the owner's consent, and it is impossible to get a lion without crossing some of the big estates."

"The attitude of the Mt. Hamilton people is in marked contrast to that of the cattle and sheep men on the national forest reserves who give me tips and aid me in every way."

The resolution called upon the secretary of war and secretary of the navy to report to congress on the advisability of establishing the separate school for aviation officers.

BANKER, WIFE AND SERVANTS BOUND; MANSION LOOTED

French Apache Sought as the Leader in N. Y. Terror Holdup.

NEW YORK, April 3.—A master robber of the French Apache type was sought by the police today after they had wrested from Eugene Dietz, a French sailor, his services as the daring $50,000 jewelry robbery yesterday in the house of Albert R. Shattuck, retired banker in Washington Square.

The crime, they declared, had all the earmarks of an Apache job, and Dietz's story of a mysterious Frenchman who induced him to take part in strengthened their belief that at least one of the burglars hailed from the notorious Paris underworld.

The burglars—five in number, according to stories of the Shattucks and their servants, and four according to Dietz's figures—entered the house before the Shattucks retired, remained in concealment, Dietz told the police, for nearly nine hours until the eight servants were at luncheon together. Then the leader, named only as "Al," his face masked behind a bandana handkerchief, bounded into the room flourishing a pistol and commanded "hands up."

The other bandits, also masked, followed and dragged them to the wine cellar. Two of the band then went upstairs after Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck, Dietz said, finding Shattuck in the library and Mrs. Shattuck in her room.

"The whole bunch were taken downstairs and locked up and then we got busy and cleaned up the diamonds and strings of pearls," Dietz told the police. Suddenly we heard a banging downstairs and then we became scared and ran."

The noise, according to the police, was made by Shattuck, who unbound himself, picked the lock of the wine cellar door and sent his butler to summon the police.

Final Decision on Speakers at U. C. Graduation Due This Week

Selection of But Three Women in List of Fifteen Draws Protest.

BERKELEY, April 3.—Whether or not the speakers announced to voice the farewells of the graduating class at the university in the annual senior pilgrimage to familiar campus spots will be changed depends upon a conference to be held this week.

Objections made to senior class officers that the speakers chosen are not representative of the various colleges has caused a disturbance in the commencement plans of the department. Particular complaint has come from the technical colleges where it is declared students had no choice in selecting their representatives.

The fact that there are fifteen speakers announced only three of that number women has caused champions of the girl students to rise in their defense. Men and women students, it is pointed out, are equally divided on the campus and a "fair" representation for the college maids has been asked.

The three women chosen as speakers are Miss Olive Presler, president of the Associated Women Students; Miss Grace Allen, woman's athletic manager, and Miss Elizabeth Bullitt, head of the committee on senior advisors and prominent sorority members. Men speakers selected for familiar campus landmarks are Bart C. Crum, Frank W. Bartlett, C. J. Dee, Robert L. Saylor, H. C. Stevens, D. A. McMillan, A. C. Maybeck, F. W. Tenney, L. L. Vaughn, G. H. Latham and E. B. de Golia. Professor Frank H. Probert will speak in behalf of the faculty.

Top to bottom: MISS OLIVE PRESLER, ELIZABETH BULLITT and GRACE ALLEN, tentatively chosen as U. C. Pilgrimage speakers.

COUNTIES BUY OLD TOLL ROAD

NAPA, April 3.—The Lawley road has been purchased by Napa and Lake counties for the sum of $20,000 and a part payment of $3,000 has been made. There are 8 miles of road on the Napa county side and 2 miles on the Lake county side which the counties will pay for proportionately. The new state highway which will be built over Mt. St. Helena, will take but little of the Lawley road on the Napa side of the mountain but will traverse almost the entire length of the mountain on the Lake county road.

It is believed that the state highway grant will begin options on the picturesque route this fall.

Imagine Washing Curtains Nine Times--and drying them without hooks or pins

April 1st to 30th is Curtain Month. The Alameda County laundries are co-operating in a national drive to brighten up the homes of the country by brightening up the windows.

In the washing and drying of curtains the laundry performs a service which the housewife can not satisfactorily perform for herself—and accomplishes results which she could never hope to accomplish. The explanation lies in the fact that the laundry has the facilities for the work which the housewife has not.

Curtains sent to the laundry (as well as all garments) are washed in nine different tubs of scientifically prepared water.

Then they are dried in the dark without the use of a single hook or pin, making it possible to return them exactly their original size, with the edgings intact, the corners square, and the scallops true and even. The process of drying in the dark makes them last longer.

No matter how delicate or expensive the curtain the laundry method protects it from harm.

When it is remembered that laundry costs to the consumer approximately only 15 cents per hour, the economy of laundry service is apparent.

STARLIGHT

by John M. Gibson

Virginia Fairfax, daughter of the first families of Virginia, rebels against the puritanical rule of her grandfather and, lured by a fortune teller, runs away to become a motion picture actress in Los Angeles. She meets Gloria Summers, who is in the movies. They become warm friends. They meet Herbert Richardson, a healthy young man who has been interested in Gloria. Gloria accepts, for herself and Virginia, Herbert Richardson's invitation to a party. Rita and Virginia plead that they must leave early. News came of the serious illness of Kitty Dalton—the direct result of the wild party. Gloria and Virginia are in their room discussing it. Virginia and Gloria are visited by a policeman. He wants to learn their part in the last night's party. They learn that Kitty Dalton is dangerously ill in the hospital as the result of the affair. Satisfied the girls knew nothing, he left. Gloria tried fruitlessly to reach Herbert by phone. Gloria's persistence was rewarded and she finally found Herb. He came early in the morning to talk the situation over with Gloria and Virginia—a sadder but wiser man.

A NEW LIGHT
be a business one, at this time when we have decided to go straight together. Gloria turned to him with an inquiring look.

"Do you—is it too much to ask, Gloria—do you think we could be married today?" Again Gloria turned her face toward her lover and the look of the Madonna gave place to the look that a woman gives to the man who holds her heart in his hand.

"I know I am selfish, Gloria, but oh, you understand my need is great."

I had been putting on my hat and I went to the door quickly, saying: "I'll be in your car, Herb. And really, Herb, Rita must go."

"Of course she must go. Sweet heart, get your hat."

Copyright, 1922.

"What a fool I have been, what a fool! Because I have money, I thought I could escape. Because I was able to buy so many people, because I found them groveling about me, because they flattered me, I thought I was smarter, more clever than others that I saw going down the same path to damnation. I live their better pictures checked with the dirt of selfishness and greed."

"Oh, yes, I know," he continued as Rita looked at him, "remorse has me by the neck this morning and I know that, too, an honest man, by something that I could not possibly foresee. Fate has played me a trick that I could not possibly prepare for, and in playing it she has also wrecked the life of that poor girl. If Rita does go blind, I shall never forgive myself."

"Oh, the mockery of it all. This foolish, senseless grasping at something we know is not good for us, and calling it a good time—And then, seemingly goaded to a despair beyond all power to bear, they came from his lips a slow, comprehending, soul-deep curse upon himself and the life that he had led."

Rita raised her head from his shoulder and closed his mouth with a tear-wet kiss and the curse gave way to that awful dry, sobbing groan that a man gives when his whole being is rent in twain.

"Rita! Rita!" he whispered. "You have come to me when life is worst. Yes, yes, I know," he said as he stroked the arms that were thrown about his neck convulsively. "You have always tried to be my good angel, but I would not have it. If I had followed you and where your love led, I would not, now, be here."

"Oh, the divine pity and tenderness of woman! Why do you stand by me, Rita? I do not deserve your love."

"But, oh, do know, dear heart, that I believe, I believe, he said slowly in the once of a zealot at the altar. Again Herbert Richardson believed in woman. Again he believed in the holiness of love and at last he was ready to fight for the life of his own soul."

At last these two lost spirits were in accord and for them for the moment the long hours or even the murmurs of the passing populace when one is on the hill of Calvary.

But for me the hands on the clock sped. I knew that we must be getting to the studio. I did not want to intrude upon this sacred hour when Herbert Richardson was fighting this decisive battle with his baser self.

"Help me to keep my nerve, Rita," he pleaded. "Help me to take care of that poor girl in some way. Help me to give her a chance even though she is now crying in half-frenzy that I have worse than murdered her."

"Oh, she can't say that! She can't say that," assured Rita.

"She is saying it," asserted Herb. "Then let me go to her. Perhaps I can get the truth from her. Oh, I will be kind to her," urged Gloria as Herb shook his head.

In answering, a look came into her eyes that made her a figure of Love standing there, wounded but not vanquished by this awful blow of Fate.

Pride and wistfulness, courage and appeal was in that look and they were all overlaid by that selfless tenderness that only a woman can give to the man she loves more than herself.

That hour—that hour of Herbert Richardson's supreme humiliation and intense despair—was the hour when Gloria Summers registered her greatest triumph. At that moment Gloria became the potential mother who, taking into her maternal arms the man she loves, soothes him with ineffable tenderness.

"Do you think you should go to her?" asked Herb, yielding to Gloria's look. "The hospital is agog with gossip. I hate to have your name mixed up in this sorry mess."

But, despite his words, there was relief and hope in his voice as he asked the question.

"Of course, I should go to her," affirmed Gloria positively.

"But, Rita—do you see the time?" I ventured to suggest.

They both whirled upon me in a way that made me understand they had forgotten my existence. "What shall I do? I am due at the studio at nine o'clock. We are making some very important scenes today."

"Then you must go," said Herbert decidedly. "I am not going to have you put aside a duty, even though it

GAS APPLIANCE WEEK LAUNCHED

"Look and Learn!" This is the advice of thirty-five Oakland merchants participating in Gas Appliance Week, which opened today. The latest and most modern methods in the use of gas for cooking, water heating and house heating are shown in the many varieties of appliances on display.

Throughout California and other Pacific Coast states, demonstrations will be in progress during the week. The ultimate object of Gas Appliance Week is to create a National Gas Week.

Oakland's exhibit is being held under the auspices of the East Bay Gas Appliance Society, which is sponsoring displays in Berkeley, Alameda, Richmond and other East Bay cities.

Practically every store landing gas appliances in Oakland is showing something entirely new. Great strides in the development of ranges, water heaters and house heaters have been made during the past year, according to dealers. These improvements make for economy, comfort, durability, convenience and health.

Equipment for the forward steps in the advance of gas equipment for the home is the new gas range, which has the new oven control, said by dealers, to be the greatest improvement in recent years. Ovens are equipped with a mercury thermometer and are arranged to maintain

POISON-TIPPED SOUVENIR SPEAR PERILS N. Y. GIRL

NEW YORK, April 3.—Wounded by a poison-tipped spear of African tribesmen, Miss Ursula Gillis, 24, was treated at Bellevue hospital yesterday for a badly infected foot. She explained that the injury occurred at the Manhattan home of Ida Vera Simonton, African explorer, when the spear, a trophy, fell from the wall and its point pierced her shoe and caused a deep wound in the foot.

First aid was administered by Bombo, a negro whom Miss Simonton had brought here from Africa, who administered a native antidote.

a given heat, once the desired temperature is attained. By the automatic heat control, ovens require no watching; burning is eliminated and cleanliness is attained, dealers point out.

Another feature is the push button furnace control, according to dealers. By the simple pressure of a button, the home is flooded with warm air from a gas furnace.

Through the adoption of the thermostat control, heaters automatically will be turned on at a given hour in the morning, will maintain an even heat throughout the day and automatically turn off at a given hour at night.

Equipment for heating by hot water and steam also forms an interesting section of the home heating plan. Hot water is to be had by the mere turning of the faucet.

During the week, there will be no special inducements as to price concessions or gift commissions.

Frocks Made to Your Measure ---within twenty-four hours

Because women have been needing an unusual service, the Lucille-Hyerle shop has just been opened in Oakland. If you are looking for a new frock or sports outfit you have an excellent opportunity to try out this unique method of shopping for clothes.

First you look over scores of pretty things here,—many of them designed and made up under the supervision of Miss Lucille, a designer of wide experience. If you find just what you wish, it will be sent out as in any other shop. But if you are stout, or for any other reason cannot wear the usual sizes, styles or colors, Miss Lucille will make up just what you want, within twenty-four hours. You may choose the style of one dress you try on, the color from another, and the little coveted touches will be added to adapt the design to your individual type of beauty.

In other words—Lucille Hyerle has combined the best features of an apparel shop and a dressmaking establishment. Yet this unusual service costs you no more than you now pay for ready-made clothing which may or may not suit you.

Come in and let us convince you that this plan is not "too good to be true."

THERE is only one kind of electrical contractor whom you can afford to employ. That is the qualified, responsible technician who employs only good workmanship, uses only standard materials and who charges a fair price.

The "check" seal on electrical merchandise is a helpful guide in choosing a contractor. The Pacific States Electric Company, in an effort to safeguard both the consumer and the responsible technicians and dealers in the electrical industry, has established this means of identifying standard electrical materials and appliances and competent electrical contracting service.

The "check" mark appears on a complete line of electrical merchandise, selected from the markets of the world, inspected and certified as standard and distributed by contractors and dealers who are qualified as to responsibility and technical competence.

You will enjoy our new booklet "The Electrical 'How' for Householders" which lists some of these standard materials and appliances and describes their use in the progress of a typical day in an electrified home. It may be obtained free from any contractor or dealer displaying our seal.

COMPILATION OF GREAT REGISTER OF COUNTY BEGINS

Three Weeks Will Be Required to List Eligible Voters, Declared.

Work of compiling a general registration of voters in the cities of Oakland, Berkeley, and Alameda was begun today by deputy registrars on orders of County Clerk George Gross. It is estimated nearly three weeks will be required to complete the task. Three hundred deputy registrars, under direction of Jo Wagner, registrar and deputy county clerk, are doing the work. Every citizen of Alameda county must register this year, whether registered before or not, this registration to hold good for two years unless the place of residence is changed. Registration may be made with the deputy registrars who are to make a house-to-house canvass, or at the registrar's office in the hall of records, or with deputy registrars who are to be placed on the streets after May 1 to make a general clean-up of all who may have been missed.

Registration in the county districts and all sixth class cities of the county, Emeryville, Hayward, San Leandro, Piedmont, Pleasanton, Livermore and Albany, has already been completed. Deputy registrars having been put on the work immediately after the first of January this year.

Registration in Alameda county in 1920, the date of the last general registration, totaled 160,000. County Clerk George Gross expressed belief the registration this year will equal that of 1920, but will hardly exceed it.

"Registration in 1920 was heavy," said Gross in explanation, "because it was presidential election year. This is an off year and registrations will be lighter. So far as I can see the chief reason for this is the fear of jury duty. The only lists of possible jurors we have are the registration rolls. If a man's name is not on the rolls he will not be called for jury service, so the easiest way of avoiding jury duty is not to register."

Registration in the towns outside Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda was completed early because of the elections for township trustees, which are to be held April 19.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, ambition and energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for "dr."

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They will cure you by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

S. F. BROKER AND BELLE ELOPE

SAN JOSE, April 3.—A courtship of slightly less than two years had its happy culmination here in the marriage following an elopement Saturday afternoon of Karl Offer, 39, wealthy stock broker of San Francisco, and Miss Elaine Holst, 19, prominent San Jose society girl.

Speeding here from San Francisco in Offer's car after Miss Holst had informed her parents that she was planning to attend the Santa Clara valley blossom festival at Saratoga with a girl chum, the couple secured their license quietly, slipped up to the offices of Police Judge Thomas R. Dougherty and were married. They immediately continued south on their honeymoon journey.

The parents of Mrs. Offer yesterday declared the present time, although expressing the wish that their daughter had informed them of her intentions.

One is a half mile longer than the present line and the other is a mile and a half longer. The grades, Starr says, are about the same as the old line.

The first took place at Eighteenth and Campbell streets on March 2 while the men were working with a section gang.

"I am going out. Now, look at me, because you will never see my face again," were Paige's parting words, according to Miss Welcome. "And," the witness added, "she didn't see his face again until five o'clock that afternoon. He came in then and stood around the hall."

Mrs. Paige was granted an interlocutory decree following testimony that Paige, who is 60, had frequently beaten her, and instead of saying he was sorry afterward, had compelled her to ask his pardon.

SAUSAGE CASING THIEVES TAKEN

SAN JOSE, April 3.—Recovery of $7000 worth of sausage casings stolen from the warehouse of the American Casing Company in San Francisco Friday night, together with the arrest and subsequent confession of three men in connection with the crime, was brought about here yesterday by Sheriff George W. Lytle and deputies of his office, following a strenuous search that had been launched immediately after discovery of the burglary.

The three men under arrest, all of whom were removed to San Francisco by authorities from that city last night, are: Harry Devine, 45, of 309 Park avenue, this city; Paul Fisher, alias Billy Moran, 25, of Ohio hotel, San Francisco; and Carl Webber, alias Adolph Wilkes, 28, also of the Ohio hotel.

Devine has been well known here as a butcher for a number of years, being connected up to one week ago with a well-known downtown firm here.

All three of the men have confessed. Devine was taken into custody after Sheriff Lytle revealed today on his part to sell nine barrels of sausage casings to Peter Owens, a butcher of the Berryessa road. Taken into custody at his home, Devine at first denied his guilt, but a few moments later confessed. His confession implicated Fisher and Webber, whose descriptions he furnished to Sheriff Lytle. They were arrested on first arrest an hour later.

The nine barrels containing the $7000 worth of stolen produce were recovered hidden in an old, closed-down slaughterhouse near the end of Montgomery street, where Devine informed officers they would be located.

Jack Kern, head of the American Casing Company, which has its plant at 61 Clara street, San Francisco, came to this city last night and identified the produce as that stolen from his place.

The three men entered the plant Friday morning about 2 o'clock, making away with the casings in an automobile. Their arrest and recovery of the loot by the local sheriff was lauded by Kern in a statement here last night.

THOUSANDS VISIT SARATOGA TO SEE BLOSSOM FIESTA

Tremendous Lines of Automobiles Wend Way Along Blossom Lanes.

SAN JOSE, April 3.—With crowds that shattered all previous records swarming into the valley from all parts of the peninsula and other parts of California, the twenty-second annual Santa Clara valley blossom festival passed into history at Saratoga yesterday.

Not in the twenty-two years of its history has the festival seen such tremendous streams of motorists jamming the highways and byways for miles around, a spring day of unsurpassable splendor luring the visitors from far and near.

While disappointed in the display of blossoms the festival throngs were not disappointed in the festival program and 15,000 banked the hillside surrounding the outdoor amphitheater yesterday afternoon when the Peninsula Choral society of San Mateo rendered its sacred oratorio of praise.

Unfortunately the blossoms were not at their height. Another week will find the famous "Valley of Heart's Delight" at its greatest beauty. By that time the 10,500,000 fruit trees be laden with their thickest coating of white and pink blossoms.

There were blossoms aplenty yesterday, however. Enough to make the trip down the peninsula or more distant points well worth the while. And the reception accorded the visitors by the hospitable Saratoga folk was worth while in itself.

Light lunches were served in many parts of the foothill community for the convenience of the visiting throngs and the hillside were dotted with picnic parties.

The choral concert yesterday afternoon was by far the most splendid in the history of the Saratoga festivals. Led by Captain Festyn Davies, the San Mateo singers raised their voices in glowing tribute to The Maker of the scene of splendor spread in the valley beneath them. Several numbers were rendered by special request and Festyn Davies himself added to the enjoyment of the occasion by rendering three vocal solos that thrilled the vast crowd that sat in the natural amphitheater to listen to the concert.

A booth conducted as a rest room by the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association added to the pleasure of the afternoon, a bevy of pretty girls attending to the wants of the visitors.

Too much praise cannot be given the officers and members of the Saratoga Improvement Club, headed by Forrest D. Saunders, for the effort put into the staging of the twenty-second annual festival. Their work was complete and it was but the intervention of stormy weather that prevented the full blossoming of the trees of the valley for the final touch of splendor. The festival program was in charge of Sheldon P. Matteson, whose work also was vastly appreciated.

Staging of wireless telephone concerts, broadcasted over the festival throngs by means of a 16-foot extension horn at an improvised radio ring, and the singing of the radio ring, a mile above Saratoga, proved one of the most novel and stirring features of the festival.

Rail Telegraphers Protest Rule Change

STOCKTON, April 3.—Eighty-five members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers employed on the Stockton division of the Southern Pacific company, at a series of meetings held here yesterday in protest in company with changes in rules affecting working conditions. Members of the telegraphers' adjustment board were present and were advised as to the result of conferences with the company officials. The telegraphers in turn made suggestions to the board members which will be carried before the next conference to be held in San Francisco. The telegraphers claim the changes protested are in direct violation of decisions handed down by the United States labor board.

Woman Tells District Attorney Man Sought to Have Her Free Prisoner.

Robert Jarvis, a barber, 475 Twelfth street, today was cited by Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church to appear Tuesday, April 11, to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court, as the result of charges made last week by Mrs. Katrina Wassman that he had attempted to influence her decision as a juror in a criminal case.

An affidavit sworn to by Mrs. Wassman before Deputy District Attorney Preston L. Higgins, in which she formally reiterated her previous charge against Jarvis, was presented to Judge Church this afternoon. Judge Church issued the citation soon afterward.

Peter Martioli, in whose behalf Jarvis is alleged to have interceded with Mrs. Wassman, a juror, was on trial at the time for having robbed Jarvis' barber shop. Jarvis, who was the complaining witness against Martioli, is alleged to have said he would have sworn to the warrant had he known that Martioli, who was his friend, was the man arrested.

City Marshal Shot; Mexican Arrested

CORONA, April 3.—Leonardo Moreno, Mexican, was arrested here early today in connection with the shooting yesterday afternoon of Chief of Police Frank Redans.

Moreno was taken to the county jail at Riverside.

Meanwhile armed posse continued their search for Antonio Hernandez, alias Jack Meyers, the man named by the wounded officer as the man who shot him.

The shooting took place in front of the city hall here. According to witnesses, Chief Redans was seated in his auto, which was parked at the curb, when Hernandez stopped up and engaged him in conversation. Hot words followed. Hernandez is said to have drawn a gun and shot the officer three times at close range. Redans barely recovered, it was said. Moreno was arrested on testimony of witnesses, who said they saw him in conversation with Hernandez shortly before the shooting.

'PHONE THEFT CHARGED.

Henry Beon, 18, apprentice jeweler, was arrested today in the act, according to the police, of stealing the contents of a pay telephone box at the Bacon Building. Inspectors Tom Woods and Alex Trotter summoned by the flashing of the burglar alarm. The youth said he came here from Portland a year ago and lives at the Y. M. C. A. He is employed by Herbert Jackson.

Blossom Fete Autoists Praised by Speed Cops

SAN JOSE, April 3.—To the presence of the greatest number of automobiles ever seen on the highways of Santa Clara county in one day was attributed today the fact that not one automobile accident was reported yesterday, the closing day of the twenty-second annual Saratoga blossom festival.

Charles D. Reade and other members of the Santa Clara county traffic squad, said this morning that traffic on the western highways and byways of the valley had been so dense that accidents were virtually impossible.

"There were so many machines packed sardine-like along the highway that it was next to impossible for machines to go fast enough to get into serious trouble," said Reade.

"Of course there were numerous bumps that resulting in the bending of fenders and minor things such as that, but not one accident of a serious nature was reported. The motoring public was most patient and courteous in the midst of a day on which it was tough to be a driver, and the attitude was appreciated."

News Notes of Vallejo And the U. S. Navy Yard

VALLEJO, April 3.—The Elks are to have a big meeting this evening at Golden State hall and during the session the newly-elected officers will be installed. After the business session the Bills will adjourn to the clubhouse at Sutter and Virginia streets to enjoy a tasty repast.

The Vallejo Mountain and Trail club had a delightful hike in Napa county yesterday. The hikers made the trip to the foot of the Napa county mountains in auto buses. A trip to Mt. Diablo is to be made a week from next Sunday.

Dr. Mohley is to speak on the Gary school bill at the meeting of the Vallejo Civic League on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting will be held at the auditorium of the Presbyterian church, and it is expected that a large number of the Vallejo clubwomen will make it a point to attend the lecture.

Work on the new Louisiana street sewer is to be started in a few days, as the city council has adopted the necessary resolution of initiation. It is expected that a number of contractors will submit bids for the job when the date arrives for the opening of the estimates.

The Orphans' Home road is to be widened to 52 feet and the first steps towards making the improvement will be taken some time this week by the city commissioners. The road runs from Georgia street north to the new Vallejo Country club, and will probably be paved at an early date.

The fleet repair officers have been asked by the station officers at Mare Island to speed up the Pacific fleet repair schedule as much as possible, so as to send more ships here this month than was at first intended. This step is taken so as to provide work for the men at the yard, as repairs are scarce since the 53 destroyers of the Pacific fleet were ordered decommissioned at San Diego.

Johnny Barres has arrived here for a short visit from San Diego. Barres is attached to the shipping board and held the position of third officer on one of the shipping board craft last winter.

In an effort to influence tourists to motor through the business section of town, instead of on the outskirts as at present, the city of Vallejo will probably extend Fourth street to a point near the business part of the community. The estimated cost of the job is placed at $20,000.

On Wednesday night the members of Samoset Tribe, No. 22, Imp. O. R. M., will initiate a class of 40 pale-faces. It is expected that a number of out-of-town Red Men will be on hand to watch the crack degree team of Vallejo in action.

Over $200 is to be spent this month by the P. T. A. of the Grant school, South Vallejo, for the playground equipment to be installed at South Vallejo.

"On account of my age I thought my declining health was natural, but Tanlac has proved that I was mistaken. I can do all my own housework now. I sleep all night long, wake up in the morning feeling refreshed and just feel fine all the day long. Tanlac can't be praised too much."

DISCHARGED MEN SEEK EXPLANATION FROM PRESIDENT

Dismissal of the Engraving Bureau Chiefs May Cause House Investigation.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—James L. Wilmet, director, and others included among the twenty-eight chiefs, superintendents and foremen of the Bureau of Engraving, removed from office several days ago by presidential order, announced today, after conferring with Democratic members of the House, that they would appear at the White House this afternoon and demand from President Harding a public explanation of their removal.

Investigation by a special House committee to determine whether dismissal by President Harding last Friday of certain officials at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing was justified, was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Representative Moore, Democrat, Virginia.

Moore asked that a committee be appointed by the speaker to ascertain why the executive order was issued, and whether any investigation of conditions at the bureau precedes its promulgation.

The resolution also seeks to have demonstrated whether it is a fact that the order was regarded as a step in the direction of a return to the discredited "spoils system."

BETTER BUSINESS PRIZES OFFERED

"Say, Harry, while we're talking about movies, do you ever see any of those 'Topics of the Day' films?"

"Yes, I've seen them often. Clever stuff usually. I'm always glad when I do run onto them."

"Well, they run them at the Orpheum, and I hear that the 'Topics' people are starting a campaign for better business and are offering a prize of a hundred dollars each week for the best answer in fifty words to the question: 'How can business be improved for the manufacturer, the merchant, the worker and the unemployed?' You're pretty good at thinking up clever stunts; why don't you try it?"

"Gosh, I'd like to. I could use the hundred bucks all right. If I don't win some prize or something, I'm going to be out of clothes in a few weeks."

"Well, you could win one of those prizes, I'm sure, but if you are needing clothes that had I wouldn't wait for your prize money. Why don't you go to Cherry's, at 515 13th street, and get a suit on credit. They have fine quality and you can make practically any arrangement you like for monthly payments."

Cherry's store for men is at 525 13th street.—Advertisement.

LOS ANGELES SPEEDWAY, April 3.—Shattering all world's records for the twenty-five and fifty-mile distances, Tommy Milton was the bright star of the most spectacular auto race meet ever witnessed on the Pacific Coast as he won two firsts and a second out of three starts with Cliff Durant's speedy Durant Special here yesterday afternoon. The National speedway champion won $4500 of the $15,000 purse, and added 190 points to his claim on the 1922 championship.

Little Jimmy Murphy, in the Duesenberg, made second big speed honors. His day's work netted him $3850 in cash and gave him 100 of the coveted A. A. A. championship points. But Pietro Bordino, the wild Italian, and Art Klein, the daring veteran on the fast Frontenac, made up with Frank Elliott on the Leach Special, were the boys who dispensed the thrills and chills.

CHEATS DEATH TWICE.
Twice did Klein cheat death during the five races that made up the program. Twice did Elliott make the spectators gasp for breath as he wrestled with the god of speed, and twice did Bordino bring sickening shudders from the stands as he fought with his red Fiat like some mythical hero battling with a fiery red dragon that sought to devour him.

The first miraculous escape occurred in the first race. Milton was in the lead. Murphy was in second place, with Hartz and Klein holding in tow but a few inches behind. It was on the first turn of the second lap that Art Klein broke an axle shaft and his right rear wheel came off.

There was a shriek. Many thought the black object would bounce along in front of the tossing Frontenac. Twice did Elliott make the spectators gasp for breath as he wrestled with the god of speed, and twice did Bordino bring sickening shudders from the stands as he fought with his red Fiat like some mythical hero battling with a fiery red dragon that sought to devour him.

Twice Bordino had to use all the skill at his command to dodge the derelict on his drunken cruise. The other drivers had their hands full to keep out of his path of the rolling projectile and to avoid a collision with Klein's car that was floundering all over the course like a rudderless ship on a rough sea. After a sensational battle that lasted almost half way around the course, Klein brought his car to a stop at the foot of the west turn, and the wheel spent its fury and did a parade of stunts inside the lower fence. How Klein ever kept his car from turning over, and how Bordino ever managed to outwit the rolling menace will always remain a mystery. It was but one of those tricks of fate that make racing a game of chance.

With Klein out the rest of the pack roared on, and Bordino climbed from fifth place to second and then passed Milton, winning the event by a scant half car length in the fast time of 114.4 miles an hour. Murphy, winner of the third place, was not ten feet behind, and it was one of the most thrilling finishes to an automobile race ever witnessed on an American speedway.

BORDINO ELIMINATED.
Bordino was eliminated from the next race by reason of his victory, and Tommy Milton beat Murphy out at the finish by a few inches, winning the event in 13 minutes 7 seconds, which is an average of 115.2 miles an hour and breaks all existing records for the distance.

Frank Elliott put up a great fight for second in this event, but in a daring attempt to pass Murphy, skidded badly, and for almost 100 feet he threatened to turn over as he fopped his car about and finally righted it and drove on despite the fact that he had shed the tread of his right rear tire.

In the third race Jimmy Murphy came into his own and won with Harry Hartz second and Elliott again winning third.

The start of the fourth race was delayed a few minutes in order to allow Art Klein to get ready. He had phoned into town, and Peter DuPaulo, driver of the Frontenac Eight, who was working in an endeavor to

BURIAL PLACE OF GRANDFATHER OF LINCOLN IS FOUND

Two Stones Found in Cemetery at Louisville Yield News of Forebears.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 3.—The grave of Abraham Lincoln, grandfather of the martyred president, has been found in a churchyard near here, in the belief of several Louisvillians who recently have completed an extensive investigation.

The investigators found two stones—their inscriptions blotted away by long exposure to the elements—which they believe mark the grave of the Emancipator's grandfather who was killed by Indians in 1786 within sight of his cabin and before the eyes of his three sons.

According to R. C. Ballard Thurston, who has made a preliminary investigation of deeds in the Jefferson county court house, the examination of the churchyard is part of the Lincoln property, which included 400 acres.

Additional details of the death of the Emancipator's grandfather have been revealed by the investigation, it was stated.

When their father fell mortally wounded Mordecai ran to the house and procured a rifle while Josiah darted for a nearby fort to obtain aid. Thomas, then a boy of 9 years, remained with his father.

According to the findings, an Indian seized Thomas and was about to scalp him when Mordecai returned and shot the savage to death. Thomas was released and later became the father of the martyred president.

In the Sunol district Earle Tringham was chosen to take the place of James Egan, who resigned a few weeks before. There was no contest at Sunol.

County Superintendent of Schools David E. Martin has set April 23 as the date for the election of trustees of the newly formed Amador valley joint Union High school.

"DEATH" ON SIGN BARES BODY OF MURDER VICTIM
BUFFALO, N. Y., April 3.—"Death!"
"Here!"
"Look!"

These words, in glaring letters across a sign near a lonely river road, led searchers to the dead body of a murdered woman.

The man had been dead for a week. The sign, however, was evidently placed by the roadside only a few hours before it was noticed, as a motorcycle policeman had passed the spot shortly before and asserted positively the sign was not there then.

No blood or indication of a struggle were found near the body. Valuable papers and a sum of money, left untouched, convinced police that robbery was not the motive for the murder.

It is believed Boechimuzzo was engaged in run running across the border and was killed by members of a rival gang.

MEN'S CLUB TO MEET.
Members of the men's club of St. Stephen's M. E. church at Thirtieth street and Thirteenth avenue will hold a "get together" dinner at the church on tomorrow evening.

SAN LEANDRO

DOG WIPES HIS MUDDY FEET ON FIREMEN'S BEDS

SAN LEANDRO, April 3.—Members of the San Leandro fire department are searching with heart-felt wrath for a dog with muddy feet.

The beds in the rear room of the city hall, used by the night shift of the local fire department, received each a weekly clean, white covering as is customary on Saturday night. All during Sunday the beds stood in unsullied arrangement.

Then came a lull in official activities, and the office was unattended for a short space of time. Presently, the request, returned to his duties, to discover with horror that the bed coverings were black smears of muddy dog tracks. Woe to the next dog, threatens Iverson, that pokes his head in the city hall door.

HELPED HER MOTHER WONDERFULLY

In these days of "flu," coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, it is well to know that every year there are used more bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar than of any other cough medicine. Mrs. S. L. Hunt, 515 W. 6th St., Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar relieved me of a hacking cough, tickling in the throat, wheezing and pains in the chest. It is helping my mother wonderfully." That's why druggists recommend Foley's.—Advertisement.

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

A Stickler for the Truth

I have a friend who practices law in the Florida courts and deals in citrus fruit on the side. One day he was on his way in a car from his groves to his home in Miami. On the road he overtook a lank native who seemingly was in a high state of indignation, muttering to himself as he trudged along and clenching and unclenching his freckled fists.

The lawyer stopped and offered to give him a lift. "I ain't goin' so very fur," said the stranger as he climbed into the car, "but I can't git to whar I'm goin' a minute too soon. There's a feller livin' down the road here a piece by the name of Ed Watts, an' jest this mornin' the word come to me that yistiddy, in town, he told a gang of fellers I was a low-down, hawg-stealin', wife-beatin', aig-suckin' cur dawg."

"So I'm on my way to his place to settle it with him. When we git thar, you stop while I go in, an' then you better jest watch to see whut I'm goin' to do to him."

Presently they came to a cabin set among straggly fruit trees. A very large, very strong looking man sat on a door-step busily engaged in doing nothing at all.

"Stop right here!" commanded the aggrieved person. "Thar's that thar Watts yonder. Now, Mister, jest you keep your eye on me!"

From the car my friend watched while his late passenger dismounted and marched toward the front door of the cabin. At his approach the larger man uncoiled himself to a height of considerably more than six feet, at the same time moistening the palms of his two brawny hands after the approved fashion.

The two men exchanged a few words, then, with the air of having satisfactorily accomplished a difficult but necessary piece of business, the invader turned about and returned to where the car stood in the road.

"Wal," he said, "that's all settled."

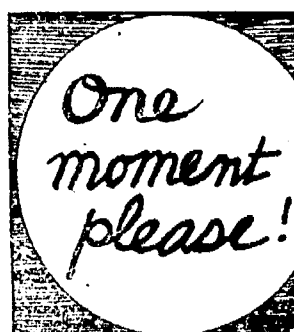

"What happened?" inquired my friend.

"I axed him ef he'd said whut them fellers told me he'd done said, and he come out like a man an' owned up that he hed. Ef he'd a-denied it I'd a-beat him half to death."

CHEMISTRY.

Chemistry is the science of associated and dissociated smells. Probably more different kinds of aroma owe their origin to chemistry than to any other branch of science, with the possible exception of legislative lobbying. There are two kinds of smells in chemistry: awful and terrible. The first is known as quantitative and the second as qualitative. We chemists dearly love big words. And when the longest word we can find isn't long enough we hook a whole gang of them together like a freight train or a tape worm; for instance, monoaceticacidester of salicylic acid. That is what you would call aspirin. The chief ingredients in attar of roses is called dimethyl-2-6-octadecane-2-6-o-1-8. And yet we chemists have just as much trouble as any other man when it comes to picking a name for our babies.

The importance of chemistry can hardly be realized by you laymen. The Scotch Highlanders were nearly eliminated from the war because of the lack of synthetic dyes for their kilts. It was only after these dyes were smuggled into Scotland from Germany that the dangerous crisis was passed successfully. In other words it was Germany who helped Scotland win the war.

A great many of you seem to be exercising the old cerebrum these days over ways and means for providing the inner man with the refreshing sprays to which he has been accustomed. You go down into the cellar and look for something, not knowing it is there all the time, only in a homely guise. The next time you wish to find your cellar haunted by spirits look in the coal bin. There in those prosaic, ugly lumps is enough alcohol to knock you and all your friends for a row of juniper trees. That little lump over there may look like Cinghella now, but wait until Fairy Godfather Chemist gets finished playing with her and she will look like the beautiful Princess. Have another we used to know in the dear old days.

THE RADIO'S FUTURE.

Man may but guess at the future of the radio.
In view of the fact that the attention now directed at the latest means of communication is a thousand times as great as that of a few months ago, it would seem certain that sudden and astonishing improvements are in prospect.
This is the craze and the experiment period, the day of the enthusiast and of wonder. Within a short time the radio will have been proved, its limitations recognized, and its amazing possibilities applied in practical ways. There are problems to be solved and rules to be made.

The benefits the radio will bring to the farmer are apparent. It is already bringing him market quotations, song and story. Surely it is but a step before the university extension courses, the Farm Bureaus and the like will have taken the opportunity to reach thousands with their educational messages. The political speech of the future, in which the orator will be guarded against interruption, will have to answer no questions and can hear no applause, may be delivered on the air. It is easy to imagine that persons who would not leave their fireside or evening newspaper for a trip to town to hear a campaign speech, might clump on an ear-piece or turn on an Oakland-made Magnavox and listen to what the man had to say. The storm warning, the word which will bring out the smudge-pots to battle the frost enemy, and the tip that a "slicker" is out selling fake stock in lightning rods may dance their way on the continuous wave.

Of receiving sets, it would appear, there can be no limit. It is the sending station which, and properly, must be licensed and guarded. New inventions may make it possible to tune to a finer wave length to cut out a greater amount of interference, and new inventiveness may make it possible to summon a man to the radio receiver as one is called to the telephone.

It is not likely that the radio will supplant the telephone. It is without the privacy of that instrument, for one thing, and, while the sending sets are limited, would be for the great majority a one-way instrument. Time will see a sane application of the radio to its maximum use.
Irrelevant things will be kept off the air while those of importance will be given place. The impetuous manner with which the whole country has seized upon its newest wonder means the hastening of this time, stimulation toward improvement and a survey of the field of application.

When the craze days are over the radio will slip into its niche as an established utility. In the meantime there are thousands of boys who are engrossed in a new science. Lads whom the visible apron strings could not keep home are wrapped and held by unseen bonds. In its effects on the future this is not the least of the marvels of the radio.

A despatch from St. Louis tells of a church body coming to the conclusion that long sermons are a mistake; that they "bore" congregations; that 22 minutes is about the length of the homily which the average church attendant can stand without becoming drowsy or inattentive. How some of the pulpiteres of others days, who held forth Sunday forenoon, afternoon and evening, delivering a very considerable sermon on each occasion after they had come to "in conclusion," would be scandalized were they here to take account of this trend.

Former President Wilson is confident the Democratic party is on its way to power. A considerable number of his political proponents were sure that the by-election in the Third Maine district would demonstrate such fact. But Samuel Blythe declares the Democratic party is dead. It doesn't appear to be unanimous.

The prediction that office-seekers would avail themselves of the radiophone for campaigning purposes is coming true with striking promptness. Senator New of Indiana announces that he will employ this device in a political way. It possesses such obvious advantages that its use by politicians will not have to be urged. It may be an unwelcome innovation to the political camp follower, however, in depriving him of jobs that have been his perquisite time out of mind.

OUR SECURE INDUSTRIES.

California manufacturers were given two reasons for assurance and satisfaction in events of the last week. The coal strike, which threatens to tie up the East and Middle West and which,
to the factory man in those sections, presents the fuel problem with a growing menace, will not affect this state. The power of the Pacific Coast is derived from its thundering waters and its generous oil wells. For heat we manufacture a substitute coal from the refuse of the oil, our trains are oil-burners and many of the furnaces in our homes consume the same liquid fuel. Even those who burn coal in stove or fireplace, in all probability, will be served, for this port welcomes the ships from the Alaskan fields and other places not yet included in the strike. In no direct way can the situation strike our industry or our comfort.

A reduction of from 10 to 25 percent in coast-to-coast steamship rates will mean a corresponding lowering in price of many articles in general use. As some of these articles are used by our factories, the new schedule adds to the many stimuli to manufacturing and assembling. Boilers, sewing machine parts, cyanide, plate, roofing, cement, wire rods and steel wire, electric supplies, tools, twine, carpets, linseed oil and paper are a few of the things upon which reductions have been made. There is a promise for the lowering of rates on more of the raw materials, and it was but a few weeks ago that the schedule was reduced on freight from this port to the Orient.

FAULTY SCHOOL HISTORIES.

There is a general stir over the country about school histories. Reports are to be met with in newspapers from all sections of steps being taken by school boards and authorities for the revision or critical examination of books that mostly have been long in use, and that all at once are found to be inaccurate or inadequate.

In this State the Commissioner of Secondary Schools has just been authorized to appoint a committee to examine the American history now in use, and to report anything objectionable or inadequate they may find with regard to American history and the traditions of the nation.
It has been announced by the president of the State Board of Education that text books found to be inaccurate will be thrown out.

The fault seems to be inadequate treatment of important phases of the country's history, rather than calculated misrepresentation. That such general attention has been given to the subject all at once is probably due to concerted action on the part of patriotic societies. And that text books that inadequately or erroneously set forth incidents and episodes of the country's history, or fail in their patriotic appeal by the omission of important facts, have been placed in the hands of the young for their instruction, is but evidence of the indifference of parents to what is going on in the public schools. The school patron may be generally relied on to vote school bonds, but not to personally interest himself in the details of school affairs.

It is an uncomfortable and somewhat discreditable fact that neglect and indifference have resulted in this general abuse of a most important public service; and that the result is serious no one can doubt who considers the effect on the patriotism of the country that must result from this misinformation.

There is indifferent comfort in the reflection that California is not alone in this move to examine and correct its school histories, especially when it has not been the first State to move in this direction.

The spotless town idea might become epidemic with distinct advantage to appearances and public health. One important thing that might be corrected is the slovenly habit of throwing debris on the sidewalks and streets. In towns and suburbs at least this is a crying evil. Nearly all articles of food and confection now come wrapped, and it is the too general habit to deposit wrappings as they may be torn off along the way, thus creating a litter. This is especially so around suburban stations.

Lenine is reported dead again. It has been some time since the last report, however, and it may not be said the reiteration is so prompt as to pall. There may be speculation as to what will happen if this report proves to be true. It could very possibly come about that Russia would find the beginning of her emergence from thralldom.
There would be a scramble for the succession,
and the successor might not be another Lenine.

All of the treaties negotiated at the late international conference have been ratified, and President Harding emerges with distinctly increased prestige. The credit is very largely his for originating this great convocation. And it is entirely his for not queering the proceedings by engaging in controversies with the pessimists who predicted failure and did what was in their power to bring about negative results.

DAILY ALMANAC

Monday, April 3.

Washington Irving was born in 1783. Prince Arthur, Duke of Brittany, was murdered at Rouen in 1202. Edward Everett Hale, born, 1822. John Burroughs was born in 1837.

A letter purported to have been written by Robert Louis Stevenson would show him strangely unob-servant. It would have him walking from 606 Bush street, in San Francisco, down Powell and across Market to a branch of the original Pine Street Coffee House, a sick man to whom walking was an unpleasant task. After each meal must follow the mile walk up the hill to his house. "He would be capable of going to the original itself, if he could only find it," the letter has Stevenson say, speaking of himself in the third person.

Now, the original Pine Street Coffee House was no more than three blocks from the house in which Stevenson lived. It was on Pine street between Kearny and Grant avenue, while the branch place, unless we are mistaken, was on Fifth street (not on Sixth as the Stevenson letter says) and was opposite the Lincoln Grammar school.

If there is anyone who can add something to clear the mystery, which would have Stevenson mixed in his San Francisco geography, there are many who would be interested. R. L. S. was not in the habit of confusing persons or places.

I started out to versify, but the verses wouldn't verse. The meter laid down on the job and it went from bad to worse. I wore the alphabet to rags, repeating at, bat, cat, but I found that even the simplest rhymes had slowed and left me flat. I thought that I could show the world, but I haven't a line to show. I started to poetize and the damned things wouldn't Poe.—A. P.

The Narrow Escape.
(Cholame Items in San Luis Obispo Tribune.)

Monday night about 10 o'clock
Cholame was very much awake.
Miss Mendle, who was using a gasoline lamp, tried to put it out and upon doing so became confused and turned the valve the wrong way, allowing the gasoline to escape. Immediately the gasoline caught fire and the bed was a solid mass of flames.
Miss Mendle escaped by jumping out of a window. The highway crew responded to the call of fire and much praise is due them, especially Messrs.
Arthur and Eades. Had it been a windy night nothing would have been left of Cholame. Nothing was destroyed except the bedroom furnishing. Miss Mendle was lucky to escape with slight injuries.

One Book Found.
Sir:—Your comment upon the decision of that Geneva judge brings to my mind certain reflections upon the ownership of books—whether they should be considered chattels, to be held in fee simple as a piano,
a table or other household goods from which we may have enjoyment, or should be considered a trust, their ownership vested for the fleeting moment in him who has their custody.

There are those who assume a book is personal property and take delight in watching the length of their shelves grow and become daily more encumbered with the crystallized thought of others in which they have found a momentary pleasure.
To a degree you are generous in sharing your delights, as is evidenced by your cry for two that are missing from their niche, but you have not yet accepted the broader philosophy of those who are not mere book-lovers but lovers of humanity and who see in books the socialistic opportunity to share with their fellows the best that life has to offer, and so pass them along with the admonition they be kept in circulation until they die a glorious, finger-printed, broken-bread, tattered death in perfect fulfillment of their mission on earth, instead of wasting the hours of opportunity gathering dust on the shelves of a collector whose chief delight is often in the quantity and not the quality of his treasure.

P. S.—If the other beneficiary of your largesse has finished "Three Soldiers" I will trade him "Scaramo-che" for it and no questions asked.

Sympathy for the argument of is speaking in defense. If he will anything he may say.

The Inevitable Censorship.
(From The Dial.)

It seems to us inevitable that a thorough censorship of everything will presently arise, equally inevitable that it will be thoroughly cor-ruptible and unintelligent. Let us wake up our minds to that and confess that one of the reasons why we cannot escape is that the attack upon the censorship has been not exceptionally intelligent itself. The habit of jibbing at abstract ideas has played the deuce with us; we haven't, most of us, talked about the idea of the censorship, but of the abuses of the institution. Now we shall pay. No one can pretend that the pure idea would have got us anywhere—this is the twentieth century, not the Dark Ages. But the pure idea would have given us something to go on with.

New York Herald tells of an in a railroad car in which race horses were traveling to Maryland for the spring campaign. Nevertheless the Canadian turfman in charge of both the horses and the whisky may have told the truth when he said the whisky was for the use of the racers in their training. It is a fact that some horses do drink intoxicating liquors and like to do it. There was with having accepted a bribe to per-in an insolvent condition. The charge is an easy one to make, not so easy to prove, yet there seems to be a number who are eager to do what they can to bring forth that proof. In Illinois the governor

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE GALLERY GODS.
The critic in his easy seat
Found little in the play to charm:
The jeweled lady on the street
Who leaned upon her escort's arm
Said this, while waiting for her car:
"How tedious such dramas are."
But down four flights of stairs there Came

A throng of youth with eyes aflame,
In all that they had seen that night
The gallery gods had found delight.

Time was, with them I stood in wait
To reach those topest wooden seats.

Had set from seven o'clock till eight (Now the most tedious of feats),
And laughed and poked the time away.

Until the orchestra should play:
And when at last the curtain rose,
We sat entranced from start to close,
A happy, youthful throng back then,
Glimpsing the stage's famous men.

We loved the drama, and we paid
Our hard-earned quarters to behold
Its purple and its red brocade.

And live the stories that it told;
We did not seat in easy chairs,
But madly raced four flights of stairs
To struggle for a seat from which We could look down upon the rich.
We gloied in triumphant truth,
Beholding it through eyes of youth.

But I am older now and sit
No longer thrilled by all I see.
I find less sparkle in the wit—
The play's not what it used to be.
Today I view through eyes of Age
The passing glories of the stage,
And having reached the aisles of ease,

I am more difficult to please.
Age, surfeited with pleasure, nods
At joys which thrill the gallery gods.

About YOUR HEALTH

Why Pure Air Every Day
And Night Is Vital to Health.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

You cannot pick up a newspaper these days without reading something about the bad housing and overcrowding of the cities.

Thousands of families in New York City live in three rooms, many as twelve persons crowd together in these cramped quarters, and four may sleep in the kitchen every night. Many families live in inside rooms without light or direct outdoor ventilation.

It requires no argument to prove the harmfulness of such over-crowding. You cannot have health or good citizenship where such conditions exist.

A baby born in a home of four rooms has four times the chance to live that a baby who is born in a home of one room.

There must be sunlight and an ample supply of oxygen or physical prosperity is impossible.

Expired air—that is, the air which is expelled from the lungs—is filled with carbon dioxide, or "carbonic acid gas," as it is commonly called.
In a room over-crowded with living beings, the air becomes filled with this carbon dioxide, so that the air taken into the lungs is not pure oxygen, but is a contaminated and poisonous mixture of oxygen and harmful compounds.

You know how the fire in the stove smokes and smolders if the damper is closed. It must have air—oxygen—if it is to be made to burn freely.

Perhaps you have seen a chemical engine or fire extinguisher pour chemicals on a fire. You have observed how quickly the fire dies down. This is because the gases act as a blanket, preventing the oxygen from feeding the flames.

There can be no fire or "oxidation," as it is called, unless the lungs carry free oxygen to purify the blood.
Otherwise, food is just as useless as the coal or wood is in the stove without oxygen.

Impure air is responsible for many diseases.

Impure air cannot cause scarlet fever or typhoid, or infantile paralysis, but it can so lower the vitality and resistance of the body as to permit the entrance of these germs.

Indigestion can result from lack of oxygen, because food is the fuel which has to be burned up by the oxygen. Without an abundance of oxygen the furnace of the body is clogged and trouble follows.

Every farmer recognizes the importance of the air supply, and in great pains to have plenty of space for his horses, cattle, sheep, pigs and poultry.

So important to human health is the amount of air space that the laws and ordinances require that hospitals, jails, schools and all institutions shall have a certain minimum of cubic air space for every inmate or pupil.

Headache, nausea, faintness and dizziness are the immediate symptoms of poor air. If one continues to live in such surroundings, paleness of the skin, lassitude, loss of appetite, anemia and diseases of the skin follow.

The open window at night and

MIXED JURIES UNDER LOCK.

The uproar in St. Paul, Minn., over the locking up in one room for two nights of a mixed jury composed of seven women and five men, has brought home to the men and women of Minnesota a realization of the fact that equal citizenship is not an unmixed blessing. When only males were eligible for jury duty the practice of keeping the "twelve good men and true" under lock and key until they had agreed on a verdict or until it was manifest that they could not agree, was accepted as an unavoidable and proper, but now that women have attained equal rights, and also equal responsibilities, the custom assumes a different aspect. "Never would I allow Mrs.
Preus to go through such an ordeal," was the declaration of Governor Preus when

NILES MOTORS WIN TRIBUNE CLASS 'B' CHAMPIONSHIP BY TRIMMING THE WESTERN ELECTRICS

MOTOR BOYS LAND ON F. BIANCHI FOR MANY HITS, CHAMPIONSHIP

Larry Heller Twirls Excellent Ball; Is Given Good Support by Teammates.

By MARTIN ROTKE.

The Oakland TRIBUNE league baseball season closed its final chapter in a highly successful book yesterday at St. Mary's college when the Niles Victory Motors cinched the Class "B" flag by trouncing the Western Electrics to the tune of 7 to 1. The Lights, even though taking the first two games in the play-off against the Alameda West End Merchants, found it hard going against the Niles Victory Motors, and had to be content with two straight beatings. The Motors also took a fall out of the West End Merchants, and the three victories gave them the flag, with the Electric team landing in second and the Encinal city club on the bottom of the perch. The first win by a score of 9 to 3 shows that the Motorists' victory yesterday against the Western Electrics was no fluke.

Whoever chirped to the effect that "the" Powers' boys were weak against pitchers was highly mistaken, for they pounced upon "Lefty" Klein for a 5 to 2 win last Sunday, and then turned around and pounded the daylight out of another south-paw going under the monicker of Fred Bianchi.

Motor Boys Hop On Bianchi at Start.

Bianchi was sent to the hilltop by Manager "Dorsey Bill" Brown, and the winners leaned on Bianchi's curves for twelve bingles. On the other hand, Larry Heller, the winning twirler, pitched a masterful game, and was accorded wonderful support by his teammates. Six hits in all were gathered off of Heller, and even though walking the same number, Larry got out of a few holes by line twirling. Three double plays, two started by Heller himself, helped in holding the losers down to their low tally.

The Victory boys cinched the game in the initial inning, when they put across two tallies. Clearly, the heady lead-off man, was issued a free pass, and then followed by a sacrifice to sacrifice. Ahlts singled to left and Welsh followed suit to drive in Heller. Heller hit a home run to right, which McCluskey failed to gather on account of Old Sol interfering with his eyes.

The losers came through with their lone tally in the second when Heller got well. After Heller's first home run, he hit Welsh with a pitched ball. McCluskey walked, and Powers forced Wyland at third, but Moss batted out. Heller hit a home run to right, which McCluskey failed to gather on account of Old Sol interfering with his eyes.

Larry Heller Hits a Triple With Three On.

The game had the resemblance of a hand-picked match, for the fourth inning, when Bianchi went up like a balloon and the Motorists tallied four big ones, while the Western Electrics, who were leading 2 to 0, were picked out one of Bianchi's fat ones for a triple to rightfield to score Pryor, Mortenson and Gimbal, the big boys scoring a moment later when Heller cleared a two-bagger to leftfield.

In the fifth power's boys tallied again on a walk to Ellison, his force out by Pryor, a pass to Mortenson, and Gimbal's single to center, that scored Pryor. After that, Bianchi went like a house afire, and in the last two innings, the winners tallied only three bingles and many a tally. Ahlts, the hard-hitting third-sacker for the Motorists, again appeared in the line, hitting the swinging line by pulling out three wall-pops, while Art Pryor and Gimbal connected for two singles. Johnnie Smith, the winners' pitcher, did the honors for the losers.

Paul Ryan called them as "he saw" behind the plate in major league fashion, while Joe Britos, though missing a few, got by fairly well.

As a reward of their fine work, the Niles Victory Motor players will be presented with gold-buckled belts.

GOLF

By W. D. McNICOLL.

At Sequoyah club yesterday the air route golfers had all the best of the argument in the Dennis Searles trophy tournament. Overhead the conditions were ideal, but a topped approach or drive was badly punished. Dr. H. Stinemann's nibble, his favorite approach club, was working with deadly effect, so Dr. A. Dunham soon lost most of his 4 holes handicap despite the fact that he was playing good golf. The match finished on the 15th in the doctor's favor 5-3.

George Vesper making good use of his holes in handicap finally defeated H. C. Cassidy with a 4 up handicap. The match was keenly contested all the way, both players bringing off some good recovery play. The tournament players unfortunately got bunched up with the regular Sunday foursomes, and although the usual courtesy of letting them go through was carried out, the match players frequently had to hole putts or drive while the foursomes decided what their best and second best ball scores were. H. C. Cassidy with a 4 up handicap defeated George Walker at the 16th, only losing one of his handicap holes up during the evening.

Stratford found conditions to his liking yesterday and won by the big margin of 6-5. Stratford was out of his shoes with lots of punch, which was necessary yesterday. M. T. Minney and C. C. Knight, after many good, but not indifferent holes, decided their match at the 18th, where Minney finally won 1 up.

E. J. Hadden had to play excellent golf to defeat Jay B. Nash plus his 5 holes in handicap. Two up at the 17th the devastation department here would have defeated three out of four players yesterday on his showing.

"Mike" is right on his game at present. Archie Andrews, after regaining 2 of his 6 holes in handicap back at the 9th, failed to keep his form over the second 9 where he extended congratulations to Wyman Taylor at the 15th, who had made good use of his generous handicap and never failed to take advantage of any slips on the part of his more experienced opponent.

DR. JARVIS OUT AGAIN.

Dr. C. P. Jarvis, playing in his first tournament game for several weeks, did well to take Chand Burton to the 17th hole, but then gave up. Dr. Jarvis was unable to play in the recent Northern tournament, having been kept to bed with a severe attack of flu.

K. Jackson won a decisive match over Dr. E. H. White 7-6. Dr. White is not yet familiar with the tricks of the Sequoyah course, but found the winner in one of his long hitting moods which made the rest of his game easy. A. T. Brock and J. R. Miller had one of their usual close, contested matches yesterday, when the winning or losing meant eliminating one of the players from the 1922 season's Dennis Searles tournament.

A. T. Brock's 1 hole up victory got him a full round of applause. Dr. E. H. White, conceding Norman de Vaux 1 up, lost by the comical margin of 1 hole. Dr. White, who is willing to admit that his opponent was more than generous in falling down at many of the holes.

Dr. Hadden was badly off his game on his own handicap if he persists in winning matches 3 up. McCluskey, however, was badly off his game on his own handicap if he persists in winning matches 3 up.

W. H. Ward and Walter H. Scott have arranged to play on the 15th during the week. C. P. Hubbard and J. T. Scott have also arranged for a postponed match.

H. R. Blanton won his match in the locker room. K. Brackett defeated H. H. Crook 2-1. Dr. Hadden defeated Dr. E. H. White 7-6.

Champion Girl Athlete

Photo above shows Miss Betty Schenkel, captain of the Pennsylvania Railroad basketball team, the unbeaten "Five of the league" who shines in all branches of athletics and sports. She is out with a declaration that she challenges any other girl in America to a do-or-die match for the title of "Champion Girl Athlete." She holds all kinds of cups, medals, ribbons, certificates and other prizes for athletic accomplishments. Whether it is roller skating or bike racing—it's all the same. Miss Schenkel leads all others of the fair sex when it comes to sports. She was born in Atlantic City but now lives in Philadelphia. She is an expert at billiards, and she is a member of the Philadelphia Athletic Club. She is the only girl in a regular game. She captained a soccer team and is a really good boxer.

About the Kentucky Derby

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 3.—The ridiculously short odds being offered—and taken—on Morvich for the Kentucky Derby would seem to indicate that someone has a frayed cuff in his family. The odds are so short that it is almost impossible to find a horse at 3 to 1 in the winter books with the date of the race almost a month and a half removed, appears not only like asking for it, but demanding it.

It is simply a case of the boys getting all steamed up over a situation that may never develop. When, several days ago, the great colt seemed to mile in 1:45, Benjamin Block, his owner, made the semi-official announcement that he meant to start Morvich in the derby. He precipitated a rush to the winter books, the main idea being to take advantage of whatever odds prevailed in them.

At this time Morvich is supposed to be a cinch for the derby. He is nothing of the kind. No horse ever is with some forty days and eight hundred miles of precarious travel yet to be reckoned with.

In the first place, it is not altogether certain that the colt will be a starter. Mr. Block says he will, but unfortunately that gentleman is only a layman.

Fred Burles, his trainer, merely looks non-committal and mentions the fact that the Preankness, Archer Stake, and Closer to Home, will be run the same day. The word of a racing trainer is almost supreme in matters of this kind.

As to the mile he flashed recently, that means absolutely nothing at all, for Morvich is a colt, and a colt's record is of no value. It is a record of a disinterested cab horse in the race itself.

There are, however, many other considerations beyond that of actual performance, that make these prohibitive odds in the winter books appear out of focus. A race horse in training is as sensitive as a Swiss watch. A thousand ills lurk in the offing and he is immune from none.

Morvich, of course, is an unusually sturdy bit of horseflesh, but that doesn't prove that he will always remain so. Even the long overland trip to the race holds dangers that might not be survived.

Aside from the matter of condition, the distance of the derby might well give the boys some pause in considering Morvich. Several times at Saratoga last season, the Block colt seemed inclined to curl up at certain points in the longer races but always responded to the urge of the whip.

Card Trackmen Expect to Win From S. C. Stars

Men Who Lost to Bears Saturday to Show at Palo Alto Wednesday.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 3.—The Stanford track team will meet the Southern California conference stars on the local oval Wednesday afternoon. After the fashion in which the team has disposed of the Southern Stars, it is believed that Coach "Dinky" Templeton's track team will also have little difficulty in getting a line on the respective stars of Stanford and California in the big meet April 22.

Local track followers expect that the Stanford team will not only win but will also be able to show some of its best runners in the low hurdles race with Lane Falk, the Cardinal hurdler. Falk has always had trouble running on Southern California tracks. The 220 yard race on which he met Beckers in the south last year contained a curve, and as he is used to the straightaway, the Stanford man fell down on the turn. He would likely give Beckers a good race on the local straightaway.

Poor scholarship made the usual heavy inroads on the Stanford track team last quarter. The only varsity man who was counted on for competition in future meets was a good scholarship record last quarter. Stanford will look better in the mile. Elmer Elliott back in college. Elliott is the only Cardinal entrant who has a chance to place in this event in the big meet.

Baseball Gossip

Claude Cooper showed the Chicago boys some chess playing in the fifth inning when he went on a dead run to deep right center to grab Barry Krug's long drive as it was about to pass over the fence. Cooper caught at least a triple. Had this ball not been caught it might have been costly, as the score was 1 to 2 at the time.

Four umpires worked in the game at the local ball on the morning, and their presence did not seem to have any effect on the players. Bumping and shoving over the mound was allowed to drag along until it became necessary to call it at the end of the eighth because of time limit.

Let's hope President-elect of the club will order his men to hurry the players on and off the field during the regular season. Such a thing should be done last Thursday is going to make it tough on this side of the bay, with all afternoon games starting at 3:15 o'clock.

Many parties of Oakland fans will motor to Sacramento to see the game on the season tomorrow afternoon. Among them will be Otto Eggensberger, who, by the way, has made a wager with Peste Ryan that the local club will win the opener. If Otto loses he will have to ride Ryan through the business section of Oakland on a wheelbarrow, and Ray will do the same with Otto if the Oaks win.

An excursion for the Oakland ball fans will be held to Sacramento next Sunday morning. It is being conducted by Bill Crosby and Jake Baumgartner over the San Francisco-Sacramento.

George LaFayette may look awkward around the first bag, but as yet he has to let a ball get away from him.

The Oaks will have their final workout this afternoon on a new Sacramento diamond. Pete Read, whose home is at Sacramento, was allowed to make the trip up there after yesterday morning's game.

WITH THE KNIGHTS OF THE GLOVES

BY BOB SHAND.

Some five hundred boxing enthusiasts made the trip to West Oakland yesterday to see Gene Volare, the French scrapper, through his paces and the prospective customers at next Wednesday's show came away quite well satisfied with what they saw. Volare boxed four rounds, two with Johnny Dempsey and two with "Long" Mitchell and two with Volare showed plenty. He is of the "bobbing" style and consequently hard to land on with solid punches. Against Mitchell he looked so much like "Longshot" got dizzy and the Frenchman came out of the bout without being hit. He went easy with little Dempsey but he showed plenty of speed. He won't be as easy for Volare as he was for Mitchell. Volare is well built and well muscled. He seems to carry a good punch in his right hand and he knows how to throw it.

His left is fair but there is a lot of sting behind it. The consensus of opinion was that Volare will do well against Benny Viera in for a busy evening Wednesday at the Auditorium. He has a good record with Muns Carter's countryman.

That was a fine punning Jack McAniff gave Jack Kearns and Ben McKelrick for the manner in which they handled Jimmy Duffy. The retired undefeated lightweight champion did not mind his words but came right out and declared that Duffy was thrown in against the toughest propositions in the east so as to get a bundle of kale for his hands. Duffy is supposed to be on his way home but has not arrived yet.

Perhaps Jimmy will be discouraged by the fact that he is supposed to be on his way home but has not arrived yet. The boy has an abundance of class, despite the defeats he suffered over his career. The proper manner of hold of him and steered him along carefully he should clean up the eastern lightweight with grace and precision. He has a bundle of class, that Duffy boy.

Rev. Cutbill May Be Found Professional

BOSTON, April 3.—William C. Frost, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, has instructed the registration committee here to investigate the "living person" of the Boston A. A. U. and accept the registration of the Rev. Harold C. Cutbill, the "living person" of the Hartford (Conn.) Industrial Athletic League, February 28. Cutbill, who holds the world record at 1000 yards, was a member of the team that won the 1000-yard race at this meet.

He denies the charges. Formal charges were lodged by the league Saturday with John A. Hendrick, A. A. U. commissioner, at Hartford.

Human Fish Is Being Coached For 1924 Meet

Youngster's Ambition Is to Lower Every Record for Swimming.

NEW YORK, April 3.—A human hydroplane, John Weissmuller of the Illinois Athletic Club, is being developed to represent the United States in the Olympic games at Paris in 1924.

Still in his teens, his ambition is to lower the world's record time for every event on the swimming card. Already he has created records for at least a score of distances in the six months he has been in national competition.

He will be 18 years old June 2. He was born in Vienna, Austria, but his family emigrated to Chicago when he was an infant. It was with a group of barefoot boys that he first paddled in the surf of Fullerton beach. At the age of eight he had taught himself to keep ahead of the waves in the surf. He stands six feet one inch, weighs 185 lbs., has unusually broad shoulders and large hands and feet, part of the equipment of all great swimmers of the past.

"I don't think my feet and hands have much to do with it," he said, "it's all in the stroke and the timing of the hands with the feet—six beats to a stroke."

Not a day passes that Weissmuller does not swim. In training he does not diet and on the day of a race he eats a big steak well done. He is fond of preserved figs, and once broke four records after filling his stomach with "shot does."

Contrary to general belief, he does not employ the Australian stroke, but what he calls the "American" stroke, and declares that the secret of his speed is in the perfect synchronization of his arms and leg movement. He breathes with every stroke.

"In going after as many records as I can in my first year of competition," he said, "I may go to Hawaii in May."

Major League

NEW YORK, April 3.—The New York Yankees baseball team and the Brooklyn Dodgers resume their series of games at Little Rock, Ark., today.

The team called by the Brooklyn Herald Herald, appears to be in the throes of a batting slump. George Herman has made only four hits out of eighteen times at bat in the last four games.

There was some cheer for the Yankees fans, however, in the fact that Wally Pipp had regained his batting eye. He got four two-baggers against the Wallies (Twins) League team yesterday, and that was considered a fair day's work. The Yankees won by a score of 8 to 0.

Senators

SACRAMENTO, April 3.—The Senators closed their 1922 training season here yesterday with an exhibition game staged against the local Elks club. It was a slugfest for the Senators for the first four periods, during which time they clustered clouts and collected for eleven safe wall-pops and a like number of runs off Pitcher Rooney.

He was replaced in the fifth by Wion, who held the Senators scoreless from there.

WHEAT CROP SECURED, CLAIM STRAIGHTENERS STRAIGHTENERS STRAIGHTENERS

Livestock in Good Condition;
Grain in Fine Shape; Little Loss in Lambs.

Imports Register Increase and Economic Conditions Slow to Improve.

In spite of the low temperatures of the last half of March and the usual spring season, reports indicate that general conditions are indicative of good crops in practically all branches of farming, according to E. E. Kaufman, statistician of the State Department of Agriculture. The reports indicate that the crop during the past two weeks has been good, with the exception of the grain, which has been retarded by cool weather. Moisture conditions are excellent and prospects for a much later date than usual. The condition of pasture at this season of the year is good, and the condition and, as indicated by the improvement of pasture, livestock is showing steady gains. The lambing season is practically over, with losses lighter than expected under the rather unfavorable conditions prevailing during the period. Losses are reported to be greatest in the mountain sections and in the valleys, where the weather is varying from light to very heavy in the San Joaquin Valley. No heavy losses are reported in southern California, where the weather is generally reported good in all sections of the state. A few lambs are now ready for market in Contra Costa county and Tulare will have some ready for market within ten days. Wheat and barley are showing satisfactory improvement, except in a few of the coast counties where rains are turning yellow due to unfavorable weather conditions. There is a good root system and with some winter weather grains will show a considerable well below the average of this time of the year. The barley acreage shown this year will equal or exceed last year's average. The wheat and barley are in bloom. It is feared that there will be a considerable loss from brown rot in those sections where the weather has continued cool and cloudy.

Arrivals in the wholesale produce market today included 8 cars of potatoes, 2 cars of onions, 1 car of cauliflower, 1 car of apples from Watsonville, 1 car of oranges and 3 cars of cauliflower. As predicted in these columns three days ago the price for oranges got up to $1 for fancy stock. The cauliflower price was $1.25 for 100 lbs. Lettuce was high, both Imperial and California, and the demand, despite $3 and up quotations.

"Grass" was slightly cheaper. Arrivals were 100 tons of white and 273 of green, the last named not being a market factor here as it all went to the stock raisers. The import port for packing and shipping is the Hunt, Hatch and Company river fleet.

The apple market is very firm. Region was quoted at $1.25 per bushel, according to announcement of the Western Fruit Company. The apple market is very firm. U. S. Steel subsidiaries are operating at a 75 per cent capacity and coming business the past fortnight understood to have been considered in excess of the output.

American Smelting and Refining Company today advanced the price of lead 10 points to $4.90.

Western Pacific gross for February was $737,297, a decrease of $10,000; two months' gross was $1,474,594, a decrease of $20,000.

A decrease of 100,000 tons in the Company's reported net income of $2,100,000, or after preferred dividends to $121,000, should be noted. The Company's production of North Butte Copper for 1920 was a deficit of $463,000 against a deficit of $1,675,000 in 1920. The Company's production of iron and steel by the U. S. Steel Corporation broke all prior production records in 1920. The Company's production of iron was 95,000 tons more than the higher record of 4,000 tons more than the higher record of May, 1919.

The production of first of the year by the U. S. Steel Corporation has been at the rate of at least 100,000 tons per day, and the tendency is upward. As a result of improvement in iron Vanadium is now operating at the rate of 100,000 tons per day.

President Harrison of Superior Steel says: "Week ended March 1921 was most satisfactory. Production of iron and steel for the past 13 months is far as new orders go. We are receiving orders on basis of 75 per cent of capacity."

BOYS SET FIRE TO SCHOOL WHEN SEEKING RADIOSix Oakland Lads Arrested in Berkeley for Raids for Equipment.

BERKELEY, April 3.—Through the activity of Berkeley Boy Scouts a half dozen youths are in custody today charged with setting fire to the Edison Intermediate School, Russell and King streets, where damage amounting to more than $5000 was done to the second story of the structure.

According to confessions of the boys, who range from 11 to 14 years, they were seeking radio equipment in the school, escaping with a large assortment of supplies. In their search the boys are declared to have accidentally turned on a switch connected with an electric iron in the domestic science quarters of the school.

The boys confessed that they entered the school at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The blaze was not discovered until 3 o'clock yesterday morning by residents in the vicinity of the school, who were awakened by the smell of smoke. When the fire department arrived on the scene the domestic science rooms and the attic were ablaze. Only hard work on the part of the fire fighters saved the entire structure from serious damage.

The boys arrested by the police after Officer L. B. Browning had discovered clues as to their identity, all live in Oakland, and, according to the custom of the Berkeley police, their names have not been disclosed. Officers H. J. Lee and W. J. Wilson, aided by the Scout Berkeley troops of Boy Scouts, made the arrests. A large quantity of the radio equipment, valued at several hundred dollars, has been recovered. The boys, previous to breaking into the Edison school, also have confessed to robbing the home of O. E. Berger, 1713 Oregon street, where they took a complete wireless outfit.

Jewish Community Center Dedicated

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—The new Jewish community center at 926 Grove street was dedicated yesterday with special exercises. The building and grounds were purchased from Frederick J. Koster, the Chamber of Commerce. They were dedicated to "the new group consciousness of the Jews of San Francisco" by Dr. Jacob Nieto, Rabbi Wolf Gold, Morris Spiegelman, chairman of the day, and A. Sugarman.

Woman Calls Help,
But Burglar Escapes

A burglar was frightened from the home of Mrs. Charles Geo. a Chinese residing at 616 Jackson street, when she called for help. The intruder was in her daughter's bedroom. The girl was awake and she threatened to kill her if she made an outcry. The mother told the police that she was awakened by the noise in her daughter's room and called for help. The burglar escaped by jumping out the window. Nothing was taken.

Allen Pelton, San Leandro Mayor, Is Latest and Most Enthusiastic Radio Fan

MAYOR ALLEN PELTON of San Leandro and his pet—a radiophone set. He has one of the most complete and modern sets to be found anywhere.

Fifteen Minutes of Radio Daily
By Edward M. Davis

An important feature in connection with these daily articles on Radio is the preparation they afford for taking the United States government examination, which must be passed successfully before an applicant is granted a license to operate a radio set for the transmission of electric waves.

Departmental experts of the United States government at the recent radio conference in Washington estimated that in one year the number of people possessing wireless telephone sets had increased from 50,000 to 600,000. For receiving apparatus no license is required.

It is easily conceivable that thousands of converts to the interesting phases of radio communication will desire further knowledge of its underlying principles in order to transmit as well as receive the electric waves.

These articles provide the student with a clear knowledge of the fundamentals of radio and are a valuable aid in preparation of the governmental examination, taken for the purpose of obtaining an operator's license.

The phenomenon of electrostatic capacity is a very important property of radio circuits and is a measure of the ability of the circuit to store up or hold energy in electrostatic form. In the condenser the energy, or charge, is stored in the dielectric, which may be air, glass, or mica in high voltage condensers, and oiled paper or thin sheets of rubber in low voltage condensers.

The ability of the various dielectics to store up electrostatic lines of force may be compared by using air, at ordinary pressure, as a standard. Flint glass will store up approximately 7 to 10 times as large a quantity of electricity as air. Mica from 4 to 8 times, common glass 2 to 4 times, pure India rubber from 2 to 3 times, and paraffin paper about one and one-half times. It is important that the dielectric have a strength sufficient to prevent rupture from the impressed voltage. By strength of a dielectric is meant its ability to resist rupture or current leakage.

The capacity of a condenser depends upon the area of the conducting surfaces, upon the material of the dielectric, and upon the distance between the plates. The capacity is directly proportional to the area of the plates and also directly proportional to the ability of the dielectric to store up the electrostatic lines of force. The capacity is inversely proportional to the distance between the plates.

The unit of capacity is the FARAD, but this unit is so large that the practical unit is the microfarad. The microfarad is one-millionth part of a farad. In order to explain the relation of capacity to other units of the electric circuit, it is necessary to define the COLON. When the rate of current flow in a circuit is one ampere per second, the quantity of flow is one coulomb. The coulomb, therefore, is a quantity of electricity.

A condenser has a capacity of one farad when the addition of one coulomb of electricity raises the potential across the condenser one volt. This relation may be stated in the form of an equation:

C (farad) = Q (coulombs) / E (volts)

Where C = Capacity in farads
Q = Quantity in coulombs
E = Pressure in volts (— used as sign of equation.)

The copper plated glass jars, in general use, as a battery of condensers in marine installations, have a capacity of approximately 0.002 microfarad each. When condensers, each having the same capacity, are connected in parallel, the total capacity is the sum of the individual capacities. When connected in series, however, the total capacity is equal to the capacity of one condenser divided by the number of condensers in series. This relation applies only when each condenser has an equal value of capacity.

Complete Outfit Is Installed
After Hearing Concert Over Friend's Set.

SAN LEANDRO, April 3.—Mayor Allen Pelton of San Leandro is an ardent radio fan. Although actively interested in radio for only the last three months, Mayor Pelton has made up in progress what he has lacked in time and experience, and today boasts one of the most complete and thoroughly modern sets in the district. When not engaged in business pursuits, and when official duties have been laid aside, the mayor can usually be found tinkering with his apparatus, or else listening to some lecture or music from one of the many broadcasting stations.

"Radio has become my latest hobby, but there is a fascination about it that makes it more than a hobby," said Mayor Pelton. "When did I become interested? About three months ago I listened to a concert through a friend's set. That settled me; I couldn't wait until I had purchased one of my own and had it installed. Not to do so would be a pleasure from it than I ever imagined could be possible."

Mayor Pelton's apparatus consists of a detector, three step amplifier and a loud speaker, together with a two-wire aerial, 800 feet in length. He likewise has his own charging outfit and a storage battery.

"Every evening from 6:45 to about 9:30 I can listen to press reports and music from various sources," said Pelton, "including the Oakland and TRIBUNE, points in San Jose, Sacramento, Los Angeles and Seattle. During almost any hour of a week day music can be heard, and on Sunday sacred concerts and sermons are so clear as to seem in the same room. As an educational feature the radio has enormous possibilities. In a short time lectures from schools and universities will be broadcasted, and those who cannot go to the source of knowledge will have that knowledge brought to them. My advice to any young fellow, and any older fellow, for that matter, is to install a radio set in his home if he is desirous of combined pleasure and instruction. It is an education in itself."

Local Lions to Pick
National Delegates

Election of delegates to the national convention of Lions Clubs will be held at next Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Oakland Lions Club at Hotel Oakland. Good speakers and a musical program will be featured at the luncheon on Wednesday, April 12, and on April 19, Oakland Den will not meet, it is announced. On Wednesday, April 26, the Sacramento and Marysville clubs will be the guests of Oakland Den. Major William T. Morgan will be the principal speaker at this reunion.

Prof. Galeno Will

"A California Business Man in Latin America" is the subject on which Professor Oscar Galeno of Santiago, Chile, will address the members of the Oakland Advertising Club tomorrow, at the weekly luncheon of the club at the Hotel Oakland. Professor Galeno will discuss the common mistakes of Americans seeking business in Mexico, Chile, Argentina, Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador and Paraguay. Miss Rosalie Harrison, president of the American Travel Club, Oakland, will tell her "Stories in Rhyme."

WILSON-CRILEY TRUCE IS BROKEN; BATTLE LIKELYAttorney for Author Denies
His Client Has Made Peace With Conqueror.

The crest of Harry Leon Wilson, author, has not been inverted.

There is no armistice between him and Theodore M. Criley, andscape painter, and Carmel is waiting.

At the present moment the customary notes are being exchanged by Argyle Campbell and J. Sherman Woolf, legal seconds of the two principals.

Bussing the sending of notes on past performances, Carmel expects that there will be bloodshed within the next few days.

The pen battle between the two legal lights started yesterday with a broadside from Campbell, representing Wilson, in which the verbal armistice was declared null and void.

"My client," wrote Campbell, "has not thought it consistent with his dignity to correct the many silly misstatements and gross distortions of the truth alleged to emanate from T. M. Criley of Carmel."

"IN COLD TYPE."

"He has even permitted that gentleman to wax in prowess from day to day, first punishing his victim to a point where he was still conscious, but unequalled to any but a mummbling utterance, and on the following day, with freshened vigor, inflicting a clean knockout that left Mr. Wilson unconscious on his back."

"Apparently had Mr. Criley chosen to fight a third day with the same deadly and mounting effectiveness the result would have been nothing short of murder in cold type."

"Happily this catastrophe was averted because Mr. Criley, after installing an armed guard to protect him from further assault by the man he vanquished so lightly on the morning of the third day, caused to be a painter with a punch and became a painter with a lawyer."

SAYS FACT MADE.

"Mr. Wilson has neither seen nor had any communication with Mr. Criley's lawyer; has not seen nor signed any peace agreement, nor has he been in any way intimidated or otherwise, that he may have applied to any concerned."

To which Woolf replies that Wilson must have fibbed to Campbell, and proceeds to recount the details of the signing of the peace agreement.

"I had a conference with Mrs. Wilson at the Wilson home last Thursday," contents Woolf, "and Mr. Wilson, inside the door, Mrs. Wilson told me he did not feel well enough to come to the door and talk to me in person."

"After talking to Mrs. Wilson and having her consult her husband, she came to the door and said: 'We are perfectly willing to let bygones be bygones. It is a closed incident with us. We will say nothing if Criley says nothing. We want nothing further to do with him. Let the entire affair be dropped.'"

BATTLE FLAME FEARED.

"Criley has never been on the offensive. He's not looking for trouble with Wilson and doesn't want any. As to the armistice, I don't make it a habit to be profane, but anybody who says there wasn't an agreement to call off this silly feud is a liar, not."

All of which leads aesthetic Carmel-by-the-Sea to suspect that there will be immediate renewal of hostilities and perhaps a repetition of the fight on the greensward at Yankee Point, where the two notables fought a week ago.

While the accounts of the fight vary as to rounds and punches, it is agreed by friends of both sides that Criley was the victor and that Wilson's period of "training" in Hawaii swelled him little.

SNEAK THIEF HAS GIRL ACCOMPLICE

A sneak thief, who uses a girl as an accomplice, stole a small handbag from the automobile of E. R. Bamham, 230 Boyd avenue, which was parked at the end of Thirty-fifth avenue.

Bamham and his family were picnicking in the foothills when one of the party saw the men steal the bag. Bamham gave chase, but the thief fled a short distance down the road. A girl with bobbed hair was holding the machine and both made their escape. The bag contained a small amount of currency, a bank book and keys.

Three Amalgam
Thieves Confess

GRASS VALLEY, April 3.—Three of four alleged bandits arrested here on a charge of attempting to take gold amalgam from the mines here, have made signed confessions, officers stated. The fourth, Vincent Rodriguez, refuses to speak.

The four were to be arraigned today. It is expected that sentence will be passed soon.

Prisoner Confesses
Swindling 11 Banks

YOUNGTOWN, O., April 3.—J. B. House of Bay City, Mich., wanted in Cleveland and other cities on charges of having defrauded banks out of more than $100,000, confessed here yesterday to having swindled eleven banks. When arrested he had in his possession a check for $3400 drawn on a Cleveland bank, which he had arranged to deposit with the Mahoning National bank here. Suspicious on the part of the Mahoning bank officials led to his arrest.

It gives a sense of freedom to know that any one in this world can really do a deliberately courageous act.

Ill Health Causes
Man to End Life

Despondent over ill health, Walter J. Cleveland of 1321 Market street ended his life by drinking poison. Shortly before, he had told his wife, Mary Cleveland, "that he was tired of his battle for better health and would some day end it all." He was found by his wife yesterday lying on the kitchen floor dead. Coroner Grant D. Miller held the inquest in the case today.

FIRES SHOT INTO HEAD.
M. Kamefama, laundry worker who attempted to end his life by firing a bullet through his head, is in the Merritt Hospital in a critical condition. He was found yesterday in bed with the bullet wound through his right temple.

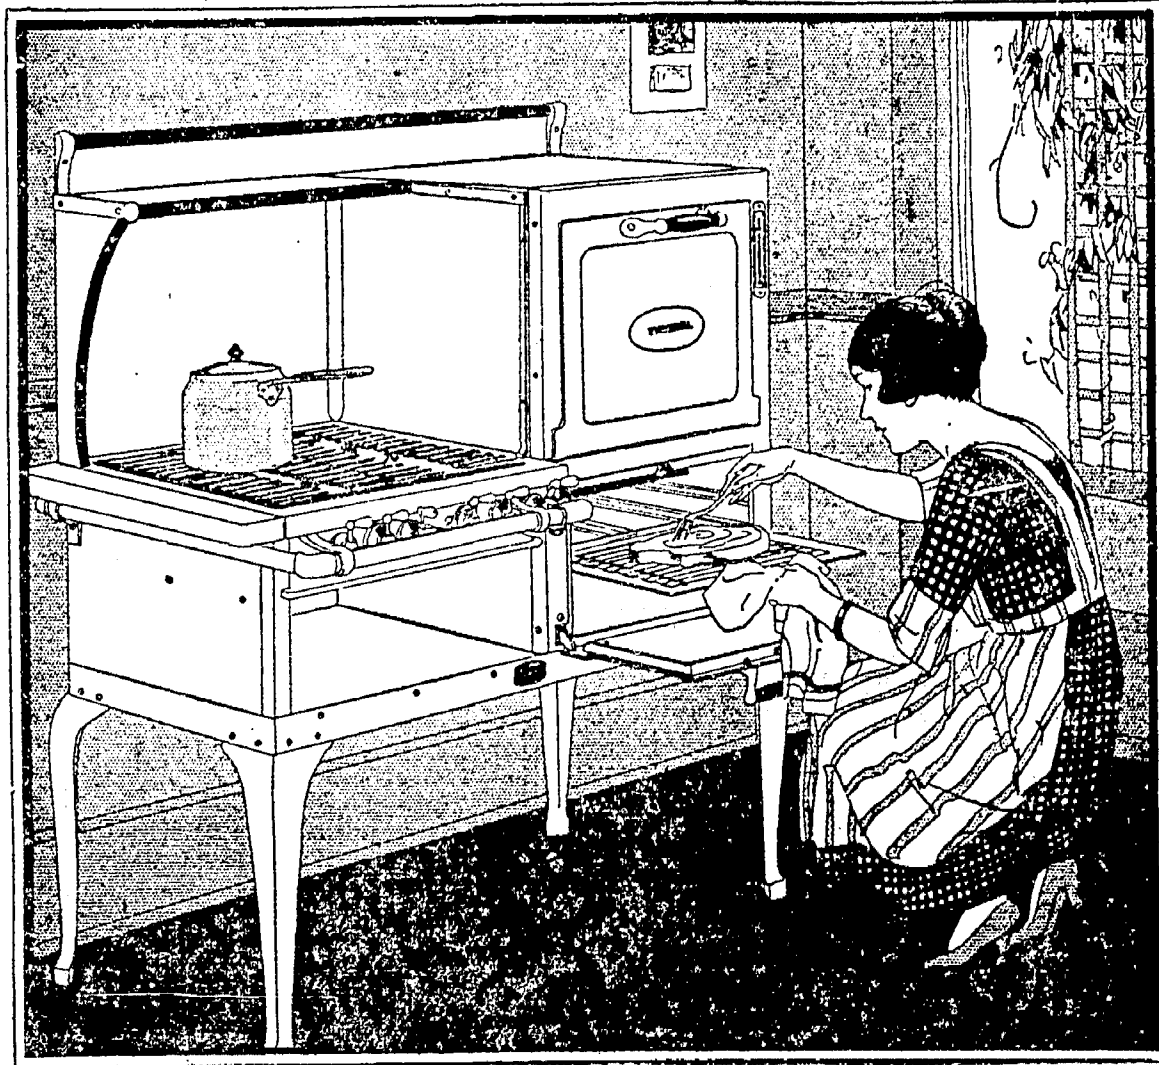

JEWELRY THIEVES
GET $1000 HAUL

A burglar entered the home of Mrs. Mabelle Sawyer, 1705 Broadway, while the family were eating dinner last night and stole a silk bag which contained jewelry valued at $1000. The theft was not discovered until after the dinner, when Mrs. Sawyer went to get the bag. It contained two diamond rings and other small articles of jewelry.

JACKSON'S

Gas Week---April 3d to 8th

THE EAST BAY STORES have arranged special displays all this week—the latest gas appliances, furnaces, heaters and gas ranges. You will get a great deal of pleasure and many new ideas for your home. We cordially invite you to visit our store and special display while you are down town.

The New Universal Gas Range

A new creation
based on higher standards

We want to show the women of this territory the gas range which they have always wanted. This range not only is convenient and beautiful, but remarkable for cooking efficiency. It is an entirely new creation, based on higher standards.

One feature of this gas range is a wonderful new oven burner, equipped with the new two-way, single valve Universal Gas Economizer. A slight turn of the valve gives seven lines of flame—gives quick baking heat—permits even broiling and toasting. Another turn of the valve gives three lines of flame—permits baking and roasting with minimum gas consumption. All or part of burner can be used with high or low flame. You have positive control of oven heat. No guesswork.

This feature, as well as the new-type mercury oven thermometer, will interest you. Besides, you'll admire the extreme beauty of the range itself. Doors are flush. Corners are square. Bolts and unsightly projections are gone.

But come and see the range. You'll say no other gas range compares with it.

We have this new gas range, which is really beyond compare, in four different styles of porcelain finish—all white with nickel; white with black and nickel; blue with white and nickel; and black with white and nickel.
